The family of Dale Hess wishes to thank those who sent cards, flowers, and memorials, and for food brought to the house. A special thank you to Brad and Tina Kersenbrock for their help with the memorial service, to Pastor Martin Russell for officiating, to General Philip B. Finley and the Color Guard for the military service at the cemetery, and to the ladies of the First Christian Church for serving the luncheon after the service. May God Bless you all.

Winona family spends time researching Colorado history

Bette Haverfield and grandson, Max Haverfield, spent several days in LaJunta, Colo. searching out history and lore of the area. They visited Bent's Fort near LaJunta and museums in the area. It was a fun weekend for grandma and grandson.

Max said, "We need to plan earlier next year so we can see more." Saturday, Dawn McKinney of Leoti visited her parents, Bette and Larry Haverfield.

Larry and Bette Haverfield have grandparents rights to speak with pride about their granddaughter, Hope Lucas, who lives in Sublette. She participated in a regional track and field meet in Lawrence competing with youth from four states. She qualified to advance to the nationals by placing second in her division.

She went to Miami, Fla. to enter the 13 to 14-year old girls' division in the Junior Olympics national field and track, USATF.

Her time in the 400 meter was 59.6. She also ran in the 4 by 400 relay. It was a memorable time for Hope and her family.

Traci Trent of Lawrence and Kaylie Anderson, Katarena and Halie of Blue Springs, Mo. were weekend guests of Dorothy and Lynn Moulden. The girls are granddaughters of Dorothy Moulden.

Rogery (Rocky) and Janice Stramel from Ontario, Ore. are visiting family and friends in the area and Cheyenne Wells, Colo. where Janice's family resides. Rocky spent several nights with his brother, Monroe and Helen Stramel. Sunday morning, Rocky and Judy Gfeller were breakfast guests of Monty and Helen.

Judy Gfeller called on Norma and Gordon Albrecht at their country home north of Winona.

During the middle of August, the census will rise by one at the Steve and Dianne Schertz farm. Ann Kathrin Jacobs will arrive from Germany to spend the school year and live with the Schertz family. Mary Beth and Rev.

Bob Winters are coordinators for ERTD Share Exchange Student Program.

They came from Salina where they recently moved from Sharon Springs and met with exchange parents for the coming year. Steve and Dianne Schertz were co-hosts Sunday evening in Dunlap Hall at the Winona U.M. Church. They shared a sandwich meal, had fellowship and discussed procedures of greeting and adjusting to their lives with youth from a different country. The first student will arrive Aug. 8 to spend the year with a northwest Kansas family. Other students will arrive in the northwest Kansas area from Europe, Asia and South America.

Susan Schertz, who recently graduated from the KU pharmacy program, is employed at the Wichita County Pharmacy at the hospital in Leoti.

Evelyn Langdon's daughter, Joyce Boehme of Goodland, brought cake and ice cream to help Evelyn celebrate her birthday. Evelyn had happy birthday calls from her son, Gene, and a sister-in-law who lives in Alaska. She treated the morning coterie at the local cafe to coffee and cake.

Karen Baxter was a weekend guest of her mother, LaVonne Baxter. Karen's daughter, Linda Montemayor, returned with her to their home in Garden City after spending much of the summer, off and on, with her grandmother, LaVonne. Rocky Stramel called on LaVonne Tuesday of this week.

Some from this area attending the wedding of Darrin Fulton and Jaclyn Hackerott in Sharon Springs were Judy Gfeller, Marilyn Och, Lucille Bruns, Donita Goyen, Sandi Margheim, Pat and Art Koster, Erma Latham, LaVonne Baxter, Jean Lowe and Sheryl and Aaron Kough.

Fairview welcomes 'super guest'

Alli Franz, a five-year old charming little lady was a supper guest of her great-grandmother, Rita White last Friday evening.

Gordon and Norma Albrecht of Winona visited with Mary and Emerson Lahman last Thursday morning.

Pat Erickson, Erika and Elizabeth were guests of Erik and Jean Erickson on Wednesday.

Pat took Jean to her eye doctor appointment and the girls visited Grandpa Erik.

Edna Sloan's daughter, Carolyn Buxton from Montrose, Colo. came Wednesday and spent several days with her.

She also attended the high school Class of '63 reunion during the weekend.

Mary Grady, Karen Hodson and Pete Morrison attended the funeral services of Gertrude Havel in Atwood last Monday. Mrs. Havel was a resident here and will be missed.

Two ladies of our Fairview family celebrated birthdays this week. Poppy Dean (one of those who serve our good meals) had a birthday on Wednesday and Marguerite Chandler, one of our newest residents on Friday. We wish them both many more happy birthdays.

Guests of Marguerite Chandler on her birthday for dinner were Jim and Betty Bartlett.

Many thanks to Sada Munkres and Judy Carmen who brought some of their cucumber crop to share with us here at Fairview. Home-grown vegetables are always so good!

The furniture of Nona Forbes arrived last week from California and Peggy Adams has been helping her get settled in her apartment.

Edna Sloan gave the devotion for the ladies church breakfast Wednesday morning.

She told of the small miracles we experience many times but are not aware of it. Very interesting. You are welcome to join this group at 7 a.m. Wednesday mornings.

Eileen Dible attended the Anderson family reunion at the Community Building on Sunday. Several family members from eastern Kansas joined those around here for dinner and lots of visiting.

My guests from a distance this past week included a great niece and husband, Mary and Gary Oxelson from Denver, and a grandson, Daryl Carswell from Hays.

Thank You

To the EMT's, policemen, nursing staff at Citizens Medical Center, the Colby Medical and Surgical Center nurses, doctors Regier, Hutchins, Hildyard and Unruh - for their care.

To Pastor and Mrs. Jim Larson and Pastor Jay Kelley, my friends for cards, phone calls, visits at the hospital and my home. And for the encouragement, care and love of my special family.

God bless each and every one of you.

Mary Oard
