Two Oakley students get scholarships

Jay Hipp and Scott Moeder of Oakley are the recipients of the 2003 Bud Ward Scholarship.

Hipp is a 2000 graduate of Oakley High School, said officials with the National Heritage Foundation.

He is attending Colby Community College majoring in criminal justice, college officials said.

While at Colby Community College, he's been an honor roll student, a member of the Criminal Justice Association and participated on the College Quiz Bowl team.

He played football four years in high school and intramurals in college.

He would like to receive his bachelor's degree and is interested in law school.

Moeder graduated from Oakley High School in 2001, officials said.

He attended Colby Community College and will be a student at Kansas State University this fall. He is an engineering major.

He was selected for the National Dean's List and is a member of Phi

Theta Kappa.

He was a part-time math tutor.

In high school he played football and wrestled.

He was selected to "Who's Who Among High School Seniors" and graduated with honors.

He is considering a career in mechanical/nuclear engineering.

The Bud and Naomi Ward Family Foundation awards scholarships are for students that have attended Oakley-Monument, Winona-Triplains or Brewster schools.
