Sports Letter

Athlete questions coverage

To the Colby Free Press:
 I read the Colby Free Press every day as soon as it is delivered. I have noticed many times that there are pictures of all the other sports except Brewster cross country. So far this year, I have seen one Brewster cross country picture in the paper. That picture was of the "lone girl runner." As a member of the Brewster cross country team, "and the lone girl runner," I have a few suggestions..

You should take pictures of Brewster's whole cross country team and ask Mr. Traub, the cross country coach at Brewster, about this team. Colby has been to three out of the four meets to which we have gone. There is coverage the next day about Colby's team, but nothing about Brewster's. I always look at the back page first.

Brewster's first cross country meet was Sept. 11 at Quinter. Colby was at the meet and their results were in the paper the next day, but our results did not show up in the paper until Sept. 18. There was another cross country meet Sept. 16. You also put the results of that meet in with the results about Quinter. Then we had another cross country meet Sept. 18. Our results showed up Sept. 22. Our results have been put in the paper late, and the results take up a space around 4 x 2 inches.

You should call the school at Brewster to ask Mr. Traub for a run-down, but, no, you just figure out the times and put them in.

Also, I would appreciate it if you would stop printing my name as the "lone girl runner" from Brewster.

In Colby, you may have two different cross country teams (male and female), but here in Brewster we only have one. Everyone on our cross country team is considered part of the team and I would appreciate it if you would stop singling me out as the "lone girl runner."

Sincerely,
Andrie Baird
 Brewster
