Colby Mayor Warren Hixson and Diana McAdams, a member of the Community Awareness Team, listened to a presentation at City Limits Convention Center Wednesday.

Leaders discuss smoking issues

The Community Awareness Team was recently awarded grant money from a federal organization supporting teenagers against smoking and tobacco use.

The grant money was used to pay for a breakfast at City Limits on Wednesday. The purpose was to give many community leaders a chance to talk about tobacco issues and what can be done to make Colby a better and healthier place for young people, said Carla Sharp, Community Awareness Team coordinator.

Community members attending the event included Mayor Warren Hixson; Jeff Quenzer, Colby High School assistant principal/activities director; Terrell Harrison, Colby Grade School principal; Melissa Schoenberger, Kansas Department of Health and Environment outreach coordinator for northwest Kansas; Connie Davis, Emily Strange, Brette Pfeifer, Diana McAdams, April McAdams, Jasmine Brown, Trey Hamilton, and Andrew Breese, all awareness team members; and Travis Siebert and Brady Strange, both awareness team members and also members of the federal organization known as TASK.

Pups ready for adoption at clinic

Amberly Gfeller was the guest of honor at a dinner on her 14th birthday in the home of her parents, Kent and Cindy Gfeller. Family members helping her celebrate were Tom and Nancy Schertz and Kandy, Dave and Judy Gfeller, Ed and Lila Greene, Alma Atkinson and the Kurt Maurath family of Oakley, Kara, Kyle and Eric Gfeller and Staci Hansen, Kirsten and Kourtney of Marion.

A bus load, varying from 35-45 kids ranging in ages four to 14 are enjoying swimming lessons in Oakley. Bus driver Pat Haremza and Cindy Gfeller are supervising the youngsters.

Jean Lowe attended a Western Plains Arts Association board meeting in Colby Saturday. The board is comprised of men and women from 17 northwest Kansas communities. The members come from all walks of life. Professions represented are teachers, clergy, attorneys-at-law, farmers and business. Some are young and some are retired but all young at heart and share a love of the arts. All present were enthusiastic about the variety of programs scheduled for the 2004-2005 season.

Each member departed with tools to pursue the task of giving people the opportunity to take advantage of being a part of providing professional entertainment in their own communities.

We are proud of you, Susanna Smith, fourth runner-up in the Junior Miss pageant. Receiving the scholastic scholarship and talent scholarship also is a great achievement. Congratulations, Susanna!

Approximate rainfall amounts for the week ending June 17 totaled 3.50 inches in Winona, 2+ inches in Russell Springs, 3.15 inches south of Russell Springs, 2.65 inches in Page City and 2.90 inches at the Ron Kough farm southwest of Page City. Needless to say, wheat harvest is on hold.

But the milo, feed and corn are flourishing.
