Memorials are suggested to Brent Eley Foundation or Boy Scouts of America.

Fairview residents get visitors

Congratulations to Irene Kehlbeck on being chosen the queen for the antique tractor show held in Bird City the last part of July. Irene had lived in the Bird City area most of her life and is well known there. She still has relations, a sister, grandchildren and others living there as well as many friends. It was an honor to be chosen for the queen. Her daughter and husband, Everett Seltham from St. Louis came to be with her for the tractor show.
Guests of Erik and Jean Erickson Friday and Saturday were Sharon Lohofener, her son Brett and grandson Cole from North Platte, Neb. They all went out to eat Friday evening and had a great time together.
Guests of Lucile Long last Thursday were her good friends Bill and Dolly Boyson from Bird City. They brought her a beautiful bouquet of roses from their garden for an early birthday gift, also a lovely card from them and their children, Ron and Sue Boyson, Mike and Belinda Boyson. Lucile's birthday is Aug. 11.

The College Drive Assembly Youth Group came to the Fairview Estates Sunday afternoon to present a devotional program for the residents. For their opening an impressive skit of singing and actions was given followed by everyone singing some familiar hymns such as "Amazing Grace," "This is My Father's World" and others. They brought hymn books for us to use.

Several young people read some Bible verses after which Leonard Burgess closed with prayer. Many thanks to these friendly young people for sharing their Sunday afternoon with these retired seniors and we hope they will come again.
Don Busse from Bird City came to visit Russell Childers Sunday afternoon.
Happy Birthday to Marguerite Chandler who celebrated her birthday on Sunday, Aug. 8. Her guests were her son and wife Jim and Betty Bartlett, their son Greg and his son Mark Bartlett. They brought angel food cake which Betty baked and ice cream for everyone here. We wish Marguerite many more happy birthdays.
Guests of Pete Morrison last weekend were his son John and wife Judy Morrison from Algonquin, Ill. which is in the Chicago area.

Edgar "Junior" L. Kriegh

Edgar L. Kriegh Jr. 69 died Saturday, July 24, 2004 at the Greeley County Hospital in Tribune. He was born June 20, 1935, at Hays, the son of Edgar Lyle Kriegh and Edith (Cook). He attended schools in Wallace and Sharon Springs. Mr. Kriegh served in the U.S. Army from January 1955 through January of 1957. In May of 1958 he married Virginia Lea (Bolen) Hickman. His career was as a welder and his memberships included Veterans of Foreign Wars-Jerome Dechant Post 6844. Preceding him in death were his parents; four brothers; Delbert; Lawrence; Marvin; and Donnie. Survivors include his son Rick Kriegh and wife Deanna of Fort Morgan, Co; grandson Reed Kriegh and his wife Cheyenne, great grandchildren Mickey Ann and Hunter, all of St. Francis; granddaughter Trista Smull and husband Matt of St. Francis; granddaughter Danielle Kriegh and her fiance Brock McAtee, both of Hays; son Mickey Kriegh and wife Beth; grandchildren Elizabeth, Dianna, Brian and Lisa Kriegh, all of Stratford, OK, daughter Vicki Jensen and husband Doug; grandchildren; Sara Jensen, Austin Jensen, John Coker and Laramie Coker, all of Minneapolis; ex-wife Virginia L. Kriegh of Minneapolis; special friend Emily Vencent of Sharon Springs; six sisters; Edeline Fischer of Sharon Springs; Wanda Minnix of Garden City; Luella Duffey of Menlo; Evelyn Gaschler and husband Art of Longmont, Co; JoAnn Radiel of Salina; Kay Kinney and husband Roger of Aurora, Co. three brothers; Max Kriegh and wife Patrea of Winona; Ron Kriegh and wife Jane of Salina; Rex Kriegh of Aurora, Co; as well as many nieces and nephews. The body was cremated. A memorial service will be at a later date. Memorials maybe designated to the Junior Kriegh Memorial, and may be sent to Koons Funeral Home, 211 N. Main, Goodland, Ks, 67735-1555.

Teenager thinks boyfriend's religion is not her way of life

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and my boyfriend, "Johnny," is 17. He will be going on a religious mission in two years. Johnny has proposed to me and wants us to be married in his church.
For that to happen, we would both have to be his religion. My problem is, I don't know if his religion is right for me.
I love Johnny with all my heart, but we have very different outlooks on life, religion and raising a family. I respect him and his beliefs, but I am a very independent person and I don't think it's fair that I have to change everything about myself. I'm losing sleep over this.
I think that Johnny respects that I want to live life to the fullest, but he thinks his beliefs are more "right" than mine. He is also mad that my parents didn't raise me to be particularly religious — although I have been baptized.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother and her fifth husband, "Lester," have been planning their funeral arrangements, discussing burial vs. cremation, etc. Mom wants to be cremated. At first Lester said that was what he wanted, too. Then he changed his mind.
Lester was previously married for 42 years to a wonderful woman, "Agnes." He nursed her through her long last illness. Now he says he wants to be buried next to her.
Personally, I see nothing wrong with this.
As far as I'm concerned, when people die they are gone. But Mom is making a huge deal out of it. She says that Lester will probably die first, and she doesn't think she should have to visit him if he's lying next to Agnes.

I feel that Mom is ruining the present over an uncertain future. Do you think she's justified? Or is she making yet another relationship mistake?
— DAUGHTER OF RELATIONSHIP DUNCE IN CALIFORNIA
DEAR DAUGHTER: If Lester and Agnes had children during their 42-year marriage, it's possible that the children would prefer their parents rest near each other. It's also within the realm of possibility that your mother could predecease Lester.
If your mother is smart, she'll refrain from turning her husband's remains into 206 bones of contention and concentrate on making this marriage as happy and stress-free as she can — for both their sakes. When it's Lester's time to go, he should be free to rest in peace wherever he wishes.
