Heather Ebert, sophomore at Colby Community College, held up a pheasant hunter statue during the Pheasants Forever dinner and banquet held last weekend at the City Limits Convention Center. The small statue ended up going for $120. Ebert said the Colby College women's softball team volunteered to assist during the auction. Proceeds from the event are not yet finalized; however a spokesperson for the group said he was pleased with the attendance, which was about 350 people.

Romance novels are free for exchange in the foyer of Pioneer Memorial Library and will also be for sale at the Lover's Day book sale. For some, romance literature will always be taboo. The publishers Avalon and Harlequin come to mind when speaking of romance novels.

ish girl named Hadassah who has a pure heart which stands in stark contrast to the society in which she is living. Hadassah has a desire to be a good Christian but the temptations are no less for her than any other Roman. Hadassah's reliance on Christ is her only recourse against the downward spiraling culture of the Roman Empire.

day, 9 a.m. - 8 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. - 4 p.m. For more information contact the library at 460-4470 or visit our Web site at www.colbylibrary.com. As always, we are here to serve you.

The mention of a novel by either of these publishers can conjure up some pretty saucy images. In fact, the mere mention of the word "romance" in connection with any book has the potential of tainting public opinion. Thus I have learned that it is often easier to emphasize the other redeeming qualities of a book such as the historical, action/adventure, etc. plot lines.

"The Scarlet Pimpernel" by Baroness Emmuska Orczy. The French Revolution is in full swing and aristocrats are being guillotined by the thousands. A mysterious hero by the name of "The Scarlet Pimpernel" has made it his mission to save as many potential victims as he can. The only person that may inadvertently ruin him is the woman to which he is married. You may find out however, that "all is well that ends well."

But — imagine a library without romance novels. Here are just some of the great literary works you would be missing out on.

Oh, and don't forget other great romances such as "Wuthering Heights" by Emily Bronte, "Jane Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte, "Pride and Prejudice" by Jane Austen, or "Phantom of the Opera" by Gaston Leroux.

"Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell. A library without "Gone with the Wind" is like a Super Value meal without French fries; it is hard to imagine one without the other. For those who say, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn," you are missing out on one of the greatest novels of all time. 'Nuff said.

Pioneer Memorial Library is located at 375 West 4th and open seven days a week. Winter hours are as follows: Monday through Thurs-

One for the "Money thru Eleven on Top" by Janet Evanovich. Well, this series by Evanovich might not be considered great by literary standards but this series has plenty of crossover appeal. You know that a modern day romance must be good if men are waiting in line for it.

The crazy action and characters in these books will leave you in stitches. Stephanie Plum for example (the main character in the series) is a discount lingerie buyer turned bounty hunter. Or, how about "gun-totin", funeral happy Grandma Mazur who is always trying to be a little too helpful on Stephanie's bounty hunts.

"A Voice in the Wind" by Francine Rivers. Francine is a popular Christian romance author. "A Voice in the Wind" is the first book in her "Mark of the Lion" series. All of the books in this series are set during the latter days of the Roman Empire: a time of extreme debauchery, depravity, and decadence. Caught in the middle of this is a Jew-
