Gaither Homecoming artists to play Colby High School Sunday

A Southern gospel concert featuring Gaither Homecoming artists Ivan Parker, Jessy Dixon and the Isaacs will be held 5 p.m. Sunday at Colby High School.

Tickets, $20 in advance or $25 at the door, are available at all First National Bank locations in north-west Kansas, Shay Realty in St. Francis, National Farmers Insurance in Oakley, His Shop in Colby, Farmers and Merchants Bank in Dillons and Memory Lane in Burlington, Colo. Group rates of 15 or more are available.

Colby's John Jones will open the show singing a few songs.

Jessy Dixon
Born in San Antonio, Texas, Jessy sang and played his first song at the age of 5. As a youngster Jessy Dixon moved to Chicago, Ill., and was heard and discovered by James Cleveland who was one of the first to sing and record Jessy Dixon's compositions, "God Can Do Anything But Fail," and "My God Can Make A Way."

To his surprise Paul Simon of Simon and Garfunkel fame invited Jessy to share the stage with him as lead vocalist on TV's Saturday Night Live, and to tour with Simon performing concerts in the United States, France, Europe, Canada, Scandinavia, Israel, and Japan.

His affiliation with Paul Simon lasted for eight years, with the recording of two million selling albums, "Live Rhythmin'" and "Still Crazy After All These Years."

Ivan Parker
In June 2003, "It's True" - the title song on one of Ivan's CD's - climbed to number 2 on The Singing News top 10 list. This is one of Ivan's favorite songs, because it talks about how loved ones (including his dad) made the crossing.

As they are passing from here to there, they are saying, "It's true...it's true. All the things you've heard about heaven are true." With permission from the writer, Ivan rewrote parts of the song to make it express his sentiments.

Parker was voted Favorite Lead Vocalist by the readers of The Singing News Magazine six times and Favorite Male Vocalist eight times.

The Southern Gospel Music Association honored him with 'Soloist of the Year' award in 1998, and The Singing News Fan Awards voted him 'Soloist of the Year' in 2001, 2002, 2003, and 2004. But one of his most cherished awards came in 1996 when he received the Distinguished Soloist award presented by the Department of Music Ministries of the Church of God.

The Isaacs
The Isaacs, a family group that traveled for over 30 years are based out of LaFollette, TN.

Current group members are Lily Isaacs, Ben Isaacs, Sonya Isaacs, John and Rebecca (Isaacs) Bowman. They have a unique style that marries bluegrass harmonies and instrumentation with modern southern gospel lyrics.

Their musical influences immerse from all genres of music including bluegrass, rhythm and blues, folk, contemporary acoustic and southern gospel. They perform frequently at the Grand Ole Opry, are active members of the Gaither Homecoming Videos and Concert Series, and travel throughout the year performing nationally.

Concert venues include civic centers, auditoriums, arenas, fairgrounds, parks, churches and other locations. They have been asked to perform the National Anthem for many events, including a Cincinnati Bengal's Football game, several Nashville Predators Hockey games, various Political Rallies, and most recently at Carnegie Hall for a Gaither Homecoming Video.

The Isaacs performed in Colby in December 2004.

For more information about the concert, call JR Marketing at 443-1994 or 460-9751.

Donations help Texas ranchers after fires

(AP) Money and tons of hay are being donated to help Texas Panhandle ranchers who lost thousands of animals and nearly a million grazing acres during last week's wildfires.

Almost $50,000 has been donated through funds set up by cattle and agriculture groups, and more than 119,000 tons of hay have been delivered from other parts of Texas and elsewhere.

On Tuesday, a steer was "sold" over and over again at an Amarillo livestock arena in a mock auction that raised about $5,500, said Burt Rutherford, spokesman for the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

"Just like we saw with the hurricane last fall, when folks are in need people step up and help out," Rutherford said.

Some of the money will help ranchers replace as much as 700 miles of fencing that was destroyed in the fires that began March 12 and killed 11 people. The cost to replace a mile of fencing can reach $5,000, officials said.

Texas Agriculture Department officials are awaiting word on federal assistance for losses of animals and fencing.

Pampa, said as many as 170 round bales of hay, each weighing up to 1,400 pounds, are available to ranchers.

Brown also has gotten calls from cowboys in Colorado who want to come round up cattle that are still wandering. An oil field worker from College Station has offered to put together a fence-building crew.

"We're trying to figure out who needs what kind of supplies for fences, and who needs help and who doesn't," Brown said. "It's just one foot in front of another."

Earlier this week, the U.S. Agriculture Department announced that ranchers in 27 Texas counties hit by wildfires can graze their cattle and bale hay on federally managed land at no charge.

Ranchers who are part of the federal Conservation Reserve Program can remove and donate excess dry grass cover on the managed land, which also will help reduce fuel for any potential fires.

County offices of the USDA's Farm Service Agency will grant authority on a case-by-case basis over the next 30 days.
