the new addition of the North Oak Community Church in Hays Sunday. It was a special occasion for their son, Darris Lewallen, who was superintendent in charge for Commercial Builders in Hays.

Two high school fellows who attended the WPAA sponsored Golden Dragon Acrobats Sunday in Hoxie were so impressed with the show they would sit through it again. Kelly Lewallen and Doug Margheim accompanied Jean Lowe to the program.

Ellen Lewallen, Patria Kriegh, and Judy Gfeller raved about the talents and beauty of The Golden Dragon Acrobats after seeing them in Hoxie Sunday.

Sunday guests of Janet Wright were Jackie Wright and Amy Lamb of Hays and Jason and Mollie Lamb, Maddie and Macey.

Brooklyn Lewallen of Hays is spending the latter part of this week with her grandparents, Mark and Pam Lewallen.

Glen Ausmus and Norma Straub both of Denver have been recent visitors of Beth Lamb and Roger and Marge Ausmus.

Some of the area home-schoolers have been working on drama once a week for two months. Tuesday evening in the Triplains auditorium was the culmination of their diligent practice. Rebecca Edwards directed a play, "Tea For Felicity." Mothers of the elementary-age students all sewed lovely colonial costumes. In addition to the drama all the students sang a song in Spanish. Liz Stephens played a piano solo and Mary Stephens played a flute solo. The girls are from Grinnell. Other students participating in the program were Grant Frazier, Faith Edwards, Sofia Edwards, Shania Dirks, Breanna Dirks, Monica Stephens, Bridget Stephens, Danae West, Janelle Frazier, and Shaniah Quenzer. Cassidy West assisted Rebecca Edwards.

Cameron and Rebecca Edwards and family are happy to be back home closer to family but they are nostalgic about their memories and friends they made when working in missions in Mexico.

A large audience listened to the choir sing of Jesus' journey from Jerusalem to Calvary at the Winona U.M. Church Wednesday evening. Singing "Behold The Man" were Soloists were Pam Lewallen, Amy Lorenzen, Sam Smith, and Rachael Smith.

Approximately 65 people enjoyed cake, punch, coffee and tea in fellowship hall following the cantata. Hostesses were Lola Bretz, Lucille Bruns, Linda Latham, Opal Bretz, and Marietta Wright. Oakley guests were Doug and Kathy Spencer, Bert and Wanda Summers, Shirley Colton, Ruth Hayes, Sharon Boyd and the Eurit family. Special guests and supporters of the choir, Lloyd and Ruth Theimer, were present. Leonard and Rena Rink came from Bristol, Colo. to attend the cantata.

Leonard and Rena Rink were Wednesday over-night guests of their daughter, Donna Carmichael.

Sunrise sandwich recipe 'eggs-on' kids in the kitchen

This baked sandwich can cook while you are getting dressed for the day. It will give kids the boost they need to do their best, because each serving is packed with protein, carbohydrates, calcium and iron.

If made to order, the sandwich is also just the way kids like 'em — and quicker than the drive-through.

The recipe is from Kansas State University Research and Extension's Family Nutrition Program. It makes four half-muffin servings.

Ingredients: 2 whole wheat or white English muffins, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoons shredded cheddar cheese, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Directions: 1. Wash your hands. 2. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. 3. Line a baking sheet with foil and coat lightly with cooking spray. 4. Open English muffins and place

"inside-up" on baking sheet. 5. In a glass measuring cup, beat eggs, cheese, salt and pepper with fork until well blended. 6. Slowly pour egg mixture onto each muffin half, keeping as much as possible on the muffins.

7. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until egg mixture is no longer runny and cheese is melted. 8. Serve open-face or combine two muffin halves to make a sandwich.

Helpful Hints: If you have a block of cheese, let kids use a potato peeler to "shred" the required cheese safely.

Sunrise sandwiches are easy to individualize for family members by adding thyme, dill, cumin, diced onion or green pepper to the egg mixture.

They're also good with cooked sausage, ham or bacon on top.

If you need more servings, school-age children can help with the math.

For each sandwich you need 1 English muffin, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons of cheese and a little seasoning.

The glass measuring cup provides a "pouring spout," so you can slowly pour the egg mixture over the English muffins and let it soak in before adding more. If some of the mixture runs over the edges, it will still taste great.

Safety Tips:

If salmonella is in the egg, it can easily spread to your hands, other foods, counters and clean dishes. That's why frequent hand washing with hot, soapy water is a must when preparing egg dishes.

Correction

An article published on Thursday, March 16, in the Colby Free Press stated that Michael Boyles, former administrator at Citizens Medical Center, accepted a settlement from John Kern, Henry Vette, and Carol Voisin as part of a lawsuit he had filed against them and the late Dennis Horney for making false and defamatory statements about him in July 2003.

At that time, the four defendants were officers of a Colby based non-profit organization called "Area Citizens for Health Care."

According to Boyles and his attorney, Larry G. Michel of Salina, as well as Vette, Boyles received $30,000 — $5,000 which was paid by the organization's insurer, Fireman's Fund Insurance Company. The balance of the settlement was paid by Kern's insurer, State Farm Insurance, in the amount of $23,000, and Vette and Voisin each paid $1,000; while Horney's estate was not assessed a dollar amount.
