Reporters linked to BALCO probe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five people linked to the Bay Area Laboratory Co-Operative were convicted of doling out steroids to elite athletes. But in an ironic twist, two San Francisco Chronicle writers who reported on the probe could end up serving more jail time than any of them.

Lance Williams and Mark Fainaru-Wada are the latest reporters to become entangled in the federal government's ramped-up efforts to investigate leaks. They have been subpoenaed to testify before a grand jury investigating who leaked the secret testimony of Barry Bonds, Jason Giambi and others.
Both reporters say they aren't going to talk — which means they could be fined and jailed until they divulge their sources, or sentenced to a fixed term for contempt.
