Danny Baker's trap shooting skills are drawing attention from those who have shot much longer than Baker has been alive.

"He's a natural," said trap shoot hall of fame member Greg Hissem of Wichita. "I've never seen such a good shooter so early on."

Baker, 13, of Hoxie cleared off much of the trophy table for the High Sub-Junior Division, fifth through eighth graders, at the Kansas State Trap Shoot in Wichita June 8-10. It was Baker's first time at an Amateur Trap Association registered shoot.

"It was an awesome experience," Baker said

A string of firsts

Shooting a P Beretta 391 12gauge auto-load shotgun, Baker tied for first with Matthew Noll of Scott City breaking 97 out of 100 clay targets in the Harlan Campbell, Jr. Single's event. In a shootout to break the tie, Baker broke plus 25 to Noll's plus 23 garnering him first Baker was one of 500 shooters in the Hall of Fame Singles event. He placed first, shooting 98 out of 100 targets. He also placed first as High Sub-Junior Novice, breaking 189 out of 200 clays. Baker did it again in the Greg Hissem Handicap, where he shot 96 out of 100 targets with a handicap of 19.

Baker said Hissem is one of his mentors and has encouraged his competitive efforts.

"Greg introduced me to Marie good shooters on the range that day Gilchrest of Lakin and she's coaching me," Baker said.

A member of the Lakin Wildcat Junior Shooting Team, Baker and his four other teammates shot against 22 other teams placing first with 865 out of 1,000 targets.

The team's first place win qualifies it for the Grand National Shoot in Sparta, Ill., Aug. 8-9.

The list continues

What he called "the highlight of the three-day shoot," Baker walked away as overall runner-up in the Hall of Fame Handicap placing second to Harlan Campbell, Jr. of Tribune. Campbell is current captain of the All American Shooting Team and a trap shooter for the past 34

"He averages 99.5 out of 100 targets," Baker said.

Baker tied Campbell in the Hall of Fame Handicap, both shooting 99 out of 100 clays.

Baker said the finale took place at night in front of a crowd of shooters and onlookers with spot lights on Campbell's and his backs.

"It was very emotional," said Baker's mom, Janet.

"I was a nervous wreck for him," said his older sister, Amanda. "We students in grades five through 12 all had tears in our eyes watching sporting clays. him in the shootout."

To break the tie, Campbell and School, Baker maintains a 4.0 grade Baker had to shoot 25 targets to determine who would be overall winner. Campbell shot a plus 24 to Baker's plus 22.

"Danny did a tremendous job," and go on to shoot in the Olympics," Campbell said. "There were a lot of

U.S. out of World Cup

NUREMBERG, Germany (AP) They were confident. They were hyped. They promised that the world's game had arrived in the United States — and that the world best beware.

Instead of building on their World Cup glory of 2002, much less matching it, the Americans crashed out in the first round just like in 1998, overmatched by superior opponents and their own expecta-

They were unable to take shots, much less score goals. They were outmuscled and outsmarted. And, after a tournament-ending 2-1 loss to Ghana on Thursday that turned on a disputed penalty call, they were reluctant to blame themselves. "The guys did everything and fought to the end to get a win," U.S. captain Claudio Reyna said after his last World Cup game. "The expectations have changed."

Those expectations were the product of both canny image crafting and the surprise quarterfinals success that had the Americans thinking big.

Thursday's loss was that much more galling because despite frequent sloppy play, the United States would have advanced with a win thanks to Italy's 2-0 victory over the Czech Republic in a game played simultaneously.

Ghana is a country with a fine soccer pedigree, but it is a World Cup newcomer. Now it joins Italy in the tournament's single-elimination second round, its reward a Tuesday match against defending champion Brazil.

After the final whistle, U.S. coach Bruce Arena waved an arm at the officials in disgust and stalked off the field. Instead of congratulating Ghana's coach in plain view, he did it outside the dressing rooms.
