Members of the Colby Eagles football team waited for the We Beive parade to begin Thursday in downtown Colby. The parade was for the football team as it plays its last home game of the regular season and starts district play tonight. Kickoff is 7 p.m. against Hugoton at Dennen Field.

Nebraska seeking payback at KSU

MANHATTAN (AP) — Sure, there was the snub by Josh Freeman. But No. 21 Nebraska's beef with Kansas State goes back a lot further than last year, when the young quarterback went back on his verbal commitment to the Cornhuskers to sign with new Wildcats coach Ron Prince. KSU Stadium used to be a virtual suburb of Husker Nation, back in the days of the old Big Eight. Red-clad Nebraska fans overran the stands and their teams dominated on the field, winning 16 straight in Manhattan between losses in 1959 and 1998. But Nebraska hasn't won in what is now Bill Snyder Family Stadium since 1996, the first year of Big 12 play. Extending that streak with a loss on Saturday also would make the Huskers (5-1, 2-0 Big 12) wait at least one more week for the program's 800th win. Coach Bill Callahan played down the Cornhuskers' recent struggles in Manhattan. "I think if you talked to any player on our football team they would tell you that they weren't there when that occurred," Callahan said earlier this week. "So all they can go on, from an experience standpoint, is what has happened within their own careers here. Personally, as a staff's career, we've only been here now for our third year and we lost one game down there and that's all we know. "All those games that were won down there we didn't have anything to do with, and all those games that were lost down there we didn't have anything to do with," he added. "So we're taking the approach where we're just going to go down and treat it like its own separate entity and do the best we can." That said, the streak is on at least one Nebraska player's mind. "It's hard to believe, considering the teams that have come through here," junior linebacker Cory McKeon said. "It's in the back of our minds as we prepare this week, that we're going into a road game against K-State and that we haven't won there in 10 years. We have a bit of a point to make." So does Kansas State. In this case, the Wildcats (4-2, 1-1 Big 12) want to prove that their offensive surge late in last week's 31-27 comeback win over Oklahoma State — when they scored two touchdowns in the final 3:04 after going seven quarters without an offensive TD — wasn't a fluke. "We feel really good winning a close game like we did against Oklahoma State last week," freshman offensive tackle Brock Unruh said. "I think it gives us a lot of confidence in ourselves." Kansas State also has its own revenge factor to consider. Last year's 27-25 loss in Lincoln kept the Wildcats from being bowl eligible in Bill Snyder's final season as coach. "It was a real tough loss to take. It was one of those games that a lot of people had on their mind all year," Kansas State defensive tackle Quentin Echols said. "It's one of those losses you want to avenge, but we want to avenge every loss." And while the Huskers insist they're over Freeman's decision to go back on his oral commitment, it's clear they also would like to make the freshman pay for it on Saturday. "You see that he's young and you want to rattle him, but they're going to do a lot of things offensively to protect him from that," safety Andrew Shanle said. "What it's going to be, I don't know, but they're definitely going to know that we're looking to pin our ears back and come after him. So they'll have a great scheme to protect him, whether it's keeping him in the pocket or rolling him out." Freeman, for his part, insists his focus is on doing well in his second start since replacing senior Dylan Meier — not that he's surprised to be starting against Nebraska so early in his career. "Yeah, I expected to be starting this game," he said. "I expected to be the starter all along."

Brewster wins

Brewster won the Hill City Tournament played Oct. 7. Brewster defeated Golden Plains in the championship 25-14, 25-12. The Bulldogs redeemed themselves from a defeat earlier in the day to Golden Plains, 1-2. The league tournament is Saturday at Sharon Springs.

7th grade loses

The Colby Middle School seventh grade football team lost 30-0 at Scott City Sept. 28. "Our offense couldn't get untracked against the larger Blue Jays," said Coach John Miles. "The defense did play well at times, but we needed to be more consistent in firing off the ball on both offense and defense."
