Shakespeare Club learns about England

The October meeting of Shakespeare Club was held at Jeanne Thyfault's "Little Yellow House."

President Ruth Lowenthal called the meeting to order with members repeating The pledge of allegiance and the club collect. Ten members answered roll call "A Fact About England".

After the business meeting, Jeanne Thyfault presented the program "Across The Pond." Jeanne told of her trip with her family to England. Two packed days in London - rode the double-decker bus - giving them the opportunity to see all the attractions.

They visited the Cabinet War Room, Museum of Winston Churchill, St. Paul's Cathedral, Changing of the Guard. From London took the train to York. York is a very serene town and the image of rural England. After York they rented a car, drove to the town of Womdermere, home of Beatrix Potter. A place very dear to Jeanne because of her admiration of Beatrix Potter. Took a ferry to Beatrix Potter's farm which looks just like the pictures in her books.

The trip continued driving country roads to Sawrey and Near Sawrey. Toured the Britannia (The Royal Yatch) docked at Edingurgh, Scotland. Saw Glasgow and Perth. Then returned to England enjoying the last day with a beautiful walk along the Thames.

Be prepared if stranded in car during winter

MANHATTAN — When the nation's upper elevations start getting snow in late fall, that's a clear signal that "lowlanders" should start assembling a winter weather kit for their car, according to State of Kansas Climatologist Marry Knapp.

She recommends that once liquids start freezing in the garage, travelers also take a fresh water supply along on each trip.

"Melting the rock-solid bottle of water stored in your trunk isn't a pleasant task - especially if you're stressed and stranded," said

Knapp, who maintains the official Kansas Weather Data Library, housed with Kansas State University Research and Extension.

The climatologist recommends that everyone's kit includes the items the Federal Emergency Management Agency suggests: a shovel, ice scraper, flashlight, battery-powered radio, extra batteries, water, snack food, extra hats and mittens, blanket, tow chain or rope, road salt and sand, booster/jumper cables, emergency flares and fluorescent distress flags.

"As you're getting ready for a long trip or travel in a remote area, you might want to add a cache of money or a credit card. You also should consider carrying along a several-days supply of medications you must take regularly - in case you don't get back home as soon as you planned," Knapp said.

Other good ideas are candles, an empty coffee can and matches.

"They can serve as an alternate heat source, if you're stuck and your engine won't run," she explained. "You won't want to build up an unsafe level of smoke and carbon monoxide, so should open a window a bit while the candles burn - just as you do when you run the engine in a stalled car. But, the can will still emit heat for a while after you blow out its candle and shut the window again."
