SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) -Rodrick Stewart waited patiently for the perfect shot, slipping through a crowd and moving behind a screen before letting it fly.

The meatball-sized wad of paper flew over a cameraman and hit Kansas teammate Mario Chalmers in the chest while he answered questions in the locker room. The Jayhawks' leading scorer in the NCAA tournament didn't even dangle a participle, coolly finishing his conversation to his laughing teammates' delight.

The top-seeded Jayhawks seemed remarkably stress-free on a cool Wednesday in California, one day before meeting Southern Illinois in the West Regional semifi-

Cedar Bluff

Crappie, poor, up to 1 pound The only reports of crappie have come from the few anglers fishing the bluffs area for walleye. A few nice slabs have been caught at the base of the bluffs on curly-tail jigs.

This activity, in this location, will improve over the next few weeks. Rainbow Trout in the stilling basin, good, up to 3 pounds

No change as good success continues using small in-line spinners and slab spoons like Panther Martins and Kastmasters. Traditional bottom baits; power baits, cheeses, and nightcrawlers also working well. Flyrod anglers fishing woolly buggers in olive or brown (sizes 8-12) have done well towards the end of the day. Walleye, fair to good, 18-20

The spawn is in full swing over suitable bottom habitat. The better catch reports have come from the isolated rocky points below the south shore cabins and up west at the bluff area. This might be explained by the slightly turbid water of these locales. All fish reportedly caught have been males. Have not heard of many anglers catching fish from the dam, but again, this water is very clear. Most anglers are throwing stick baits, thunder-sticks, and rapalas. Twister-tail jigs in dark and/or bright colors (depending on location) working also.

Comments: The lake is 2.63' lower than it was a year ago.

WATER TEMPERATURE- 48 Five-hundred crappie were tagged in the spring of 2005 at Cedar Bluff, part of a 3-year exploitation research being conducted on various reservoirs across the state. Anglers who catch a tagged crappie are encouraged to report their catch information for that day and turn in the actual tag on a reporting postcard. Cards are available at local bait and tackle businesses as well as the Cedar Bluff area office. Monetary rewards are given for submit-
