Pass 5 🔶 Opening lead — two of hearts.

Famous Hand

Small mistakes are sometimes responsible for big losses. For a typical example, consider the accompanying deal played between the United States and Italy in the 1979 world championship.

The bidding and opening lead were exactly the same at both tables. At the first table, with an American pair holding the North-South cards, declarer won the heart lead with dummy's ace, cashed the A-K of diamonds and ace of spades, then led a club toward dummy. Unfortunately, not only were the trumps divided 3-0, but East also had the A-Q of clubs, so the contract went At the second table, the Italian declarer made five diamonds. He played the ten of hearts from dummy at trick one, and it won the trick. This seemingly inconsequential play made all the difference in the outcome.

Declarer next cashed the A-K of trumps and ace of hearts before playing a spade to his ace. Then came the king of hearts, both defenders following suit and leaving only the jack outstanding (which West was known to hold).

At this point, South ruffed his jack of spades in dummy and returned a trump, compelling East to win the trick with the queen.

This left East in a hopeless position. Whether he returned a club or a spade, declarer could not lose more than one club trick. And so, thanks to playing the ten of hearts from dummy at trick one, the Italian declarer succeeded where his American counterpart had failed.

The odds were probably better than 10to-1 that declarer's first play from dummy would have no effect on the ultimate outcome, but this happened to be that one time.

"I'd rather text my report. Then I wouldn't hafta spell whole words."
