Golden Plains' scholar team heads to state bowl Saturday

By Jordan Rogers

Golden Plains attended the Regional Scholars Bowl in Brewster. They were placed in a tough pool of five other teams.

After the initial pool play, Golden Plains was undefeated going into the championship rounds. After getting off to a shaky start with two consecutive losses to Tribune and Quinter, the team pulled ahead and won three more rounds in a row.

They ended up in a three-way tie for second with Hoxie and Quinter. The previous rounds then determined the winner in the event. Golden Plains beat Hoxie by 50, Quinter beat Golden Plains by 20, and Hoxie beat Quinter by 20.

This caused Golden Plains to have a score of 30, Quinter with 0, and Hoxie with -30, giving Golden Plains the win, which qualified them for state.

Andrew Broeckelman said, "In the finals it was an emotional turntable finding out whether or not we had made it to state. Once we realized that we qualified, we were ecstatic and we look forward to competing next week." Golden Plains will compete in State Scholar's Bowl Saturday in LeRoy.

Bush sends Congress $3 trillion budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush is sending Congress a $3 trillion spending blueprint that would provide a big boost to defense and protect his signature tax cuts.

It seeks sizable savings in government health care programs and puts the squeeze on much of the rest of government, but it would still generate near-record budget deficits over the next two years.

Even before receiving the document Monday, Democrats were attacking it for slashing programs to help the poor while protecting tax cuts for the wealthy.

"This is a budget that sticks it to the middle class, comforts the wealthy and has a set of priorities that are not the priorities of the American people," said Senate Budget Committee Chairman Kent Conrad, D-N.D.

Democrats saw the plan as a continuation of failed policies that have seen the national debt explode under Bush. A projected 10-year surplus of $5.6 trillion when Bush took office was wiped out by the 2001 recession, the increased spending to fight terrorism and, Democrats contend, Bush's costly tax cuts.

Bush's spending blueprint sets the stage for what will probably be epic battles in the president's last year in office, as both parties seek to gain advantages with voters heading into the November elections.

Bush, who was the first president to propose a $2 trillion budget, back in 2002, will leave office as the first president to hit $3 trillion with a spending plan.

His blueprint for the budget year that begins next October projects huge deficits, around $400 billion for this year and next, more than double the 2007 deficit of $163 billion. Private economists believe the deficit could easily surpass the previous record in dollar terms of $413 billion set in 2004, especially if the country does go into a recession.

The sharp jump in the deficits reflects, in part, a proposed economic stimulus plan of around $145 billion. Bush is urging Congress to pass it quickly as a way of getting tax rebates to households this summer in hopes of preventing a full-blown recession.

As in past years, Bush's biggest proposed increases are in national security. Defense spending is projected to rise by about 7 percent.

to $515 billion, and homeland security money by almost 11 percent, with a big gain for border security. Details on the budget were obtained through interviews with administration officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity until the budget's release.

The bulk of government programs for which Congress sets annual spending levels would remain essentially frozen at current levels. The president does shower extra money on some favored programs in education and to bolster inspections of imported food, following last year's high-profile recalls of tainted products coming from China.
