Potato salad great with barbecue

By Heloise

Hints from Heloise

Dear Readers: Barbecue season is here! Grilling is a nutritious and easy way to make one or several meals at a time. Planning side dishes can sometimes be tough. But potato salad is always a favorite! Here is my mother's recipe for hot potato salad that goes way back, more than 40 years. To make it, you will need:

- 2 pounds small white potatoes
- 1/2 cup diced bacon
- 3/4 cup minced onion
- 1 1/2 teaspoons flour
- 4 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup to 1/3 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 teaspoons snipped fresh parsley
- 1 teaspoon celery seeds
- 1/2 cup sliced radishes
- Celery leaves

Cook the potatoes in their jackets in a saucepan with about 1 inch of boiling water. When tender, peel and cut into 1/4-inch slices. (Large potatoes peeled and cut into chunks will do fine.)

In a small skillet, fry the bacon until crisp and add 1/2 cup of the onion and saute until just tender, not brown.

In a separate bowl, mix the flour, sugar, salt and pepper, then stir in the vinegar and 1/2 cup water until smooth. Add this to the bacon and stir on simmer until slightly thickened.

Pour this hot dressing over the hot potatoes. Add the remaining onion, parsley, celery seeds and radishes. Serve lightly tossed and garnished with celery leaves. Let's talk onions: What are three colors of onions sold in many grocery stores? If you came up with white, red and yellow, then no crying, because you are correct. You can use any type of onion for this recipe, and red/purple adds more color!

Cookbook bookmarks

Dear Heloise: I found a way to enjoy all the little school pictures of my grandchildren and great-grandchildren. I use them in my cookbooks as a bookmark on each child's favorite thing — cakes, cookies, etc. I get to enjoy looking at how fast they grow from year to year.

Tasty tidbits

Dear Readers: Speaking of onions, do you know your onions? How many pounds of onions does an American eat each year?

- a. 10 pounds
- b. 20 pounds
- c. 30 pounds

Do you want to "b" the smartest onion of all? To "b" correct, you should have picked 20 pounds! The largest onion was grown in Silsden, England, and weighed in at more than 10 pounds.

Crumb ingredient

Dear Heloise: I collect all the crumbs in the bottoms of cereal boxes, cracker boxes and potato-chip bags. I crush them and add to my meatloaf mixture. Depending on the chips and crackers, you might not need to add salt.

Painkiller company to pay state

TOPEKA (AP) — Kansas is receiving $1.2 million from a multi-state settlement with the manufacturer of the painkiller Vioxx, and the attorney general's office plans to use the money for consumer protection programs.

Attorney General Steve Six announced Tuesday that his office had filed a judgment in Shawnee County District Court to claim the state's share.

Kansas, 28 other states and the District of Columbia had been investigating Merck & Co. over its advertising for the painkiller. The company agreed to pay a total of $58 million.

Vioxx was taken off the market in 2004 after research showed it doubled the risk of heart attacks and strokes. The states were investigating whether ads for the drug deceptively played down its health risks.

Merck is not acknowledging any wrongdoing, but it is agreeing to have all new television commercials for its drugs reviewed by the federal Food and Drug Administration before they are broadcast. Also, Merck is prohibited from paying scientists to take credit for positive research articles prepared by medical writers hired by the company.

"We're particularly pleased with the protections on the advertisements and promotions," said Six spokeswoman Ashley Anstaett.

BABY NAMES: Ethan and Addison were the most popular names for boys and girls born in Kansas in 2007, according to the Social Security Administration.

The agency said the most popular boys names were Ethan, Jacob, Alexander, Jackson and Noah. As for girls, Addison, Emma, Ava, Madison and Emily were the most frequently picked.

The agency compiles the list of names each year, based on applications for Social Security cards.
