Colby grad places at technology convention

Courtney Ress placed fifth in extemporaneous presentation at the National Technology Student Association Convention in Orlando, Fla.

Ress was one of 4,800 students who competed in 60 events during the convention from June 29 through July 2, officials said.

She competed in three events and made the finals in extemporaneous presentation. She won the event in March at the Kansas State Technology Student Association Convention held in Colby.

There were 120 competitors in the event at Orlando who were given a topic about science, technology, engineering, or mathematics and allowed 15 minutes to prepare a 5 minute presentation on the subject.

Ress graduated from Colby High School in May and will attend Kansas State University, Manhattan, in the fall.
