Corrections

The story on the Colby High School boy's basketball team on page 8 of the Thursday Colby Free Press incorrectly said that the team was 2-2 this season. The Eagles' record was 1-3 at that time.

Art workshop features gourds

Gourd artist Kristin Johnson, Hoxie, will present an oil pastel gourd pendant workshop for anyone interested in experiencing the unique style of creating cut-out jewelry made from gourds. Participants will start by planning a vase or bowl from the gourd, and then create a pendant, and possibly beads, from the remaining parts. An oil pastel and mineral spirits technique will be introduced and used. The workshop is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 5, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Prairie Museum, with a $15 fee. Registration is required and anyone interested should contact the museum at 785-460-4590 or prairiem@st-tel.net.

Eating for a good cause

The Technological Students Association held a soup dinner yesterday at the Colby Community College to raise money for the group. Pictured are Pat and Lois Sumner being served by sixth grader Trestra Unban. The students plan to use the money to go to a national competition in Denver.

Wind energy focus of irrigation conference

Monday is the early registration deadline for the Central Plains Irrigation Conference and Exposition, scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 24-25, at the City Limits Convention Center in Colby.

Presentations on the latest irrigation equipment and water management practices will be made by industry, university and government representatives. Kansas State University Research and Extension is the event organizer.

The conference is designed for irrigators, irrigation managers, crop consultants, agri-business professionals and state and federal employees involved in water management. Continuing education credits for crop consultant advisors have been applied for.

General sessions will feature an outlook on agriculture's potential and the role of wind energy in agriculture.

Technical sessions will address crop and weather interaction, crop water productivity, center pivot sprinkler considerations, subsurface irrigation, irrigation technology and energy, and economic issues facing irrigators.

At the equipment exposition, manufacturers and dealer representatives will display and explain the latest equipment in the irrigation industry.

An early conference registration fee of $65 per person ($75, if applying for continuing education units) must be postmarked by Monday. After that date, the fee is $75 ($85, if applying for credit).

Registrations go to Donna Lamm, 760 N. Thompson, Colby, Kan., 67701. Information is available by calling Lamm at (785) 462-7574.
