County OKs deputies' pay boost

"Those funds are supposed to be used for non-budget items only," he said, "and I'm going to try to get it straightened out and I'll keep you guys informed."

Taylor said he is still spending time making visits to the Free Breakfast Inn. He said the majority of the 4-5 acre property is littered with solid waste. A letter sent to owner Jeffrey Harsh, listed of some of the observations, were junk vehicles, some filled with household refuse, clothing, broken glass, and rotted lumber like pellets, posts and wooden bins. There are also plastic containers, deteriorated asphalt shingles and broken clay tile shingles; approximately 30 drums of molasses and other material once used as feed for the lions and tigers, furniture, such as couches, chairs, end tables, and electronic waste such as televisions and clocks; paint cans with paint in them and sheet rock.

The Kansas Department of Health and Environment had earlier issued an order for the disposal of 10 cubic yards of cow skulls. Landfill operator Larry Jumper said he had taken 55 yards of skulls and, to the best of his knowledge, he had probably gotten the all.

In a phone conversation between the Colby Free Press and Shirley Weber, the Local Environmental Protection Group director, Weber said the health department had referred the problem to her office and she did an on site inspection.

"We observed what appeared to be raw sewage," Weber said.

Taylor said, in the meantime, Mr. Harsh had deeded the property to O'Sheridan Operating, L.L.C.

The commissioners said the veterinary bill for the removal of the tigers has been partially taken care of by animal rights group People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, in the amount of about $1,100, and the zoo who took the lions is expected to pay a large portion of the remaining bill.

Fallen honored during Police Week

Carrier Safety Assistance Program, Goodheart was performing a routine truck inspection when a passing car struck him.

Thomas County Sheriff Sam Pratt was the first officer to be killed in the line of duty in Thomas County. He was killed at a roadblock north of Colby in 1925 trying to apprehend two fugitives wanted for the death of a police officer in Nebraska.

Two former Thomas County officers have been killed in the line of duty. In 1995, Daniel D. Trail of the Beloit, Police Department died during a water rescue attempt. He was caught in the current and drown. He had served with the Colby and Atwood Police Departments. Also in 1995, John L. Teter, Chief of Police in Oxford, died of injuries sustained in a motor vehicle accident during a vehicle pursuit. He had been the investigator for the Quad County Task Force and had served with the Logan County Sheriff's Office. There have also been many close calls.

Students score high at state music festival

The vocal soloists who performed at the festival and their scores were senior Kaitlyn Albers - II, juniors Griggs - II, Caitlin Wright - I, Brock Wagoner - I, and Jake Rose, - II and freshman Hannah Matchell - III.

Nichols said the vocal ensemble representing the high school were Choralation, which earned a II and the Men's Ensemble, which earned a II. Members of Choralation were seniors Albers, Taylor Young, Whitney Wright and Emily Terrell; juniors Griggs, Kerkisiek, Wagoner, Rose, Gray Henry, Anna Juenemann and Caitlin Wright; sophomores Abby Miller, Chase McNinch and Allison Giersch; and freshman Matchell.

The students in the men's group are juniors Kerkisiek, Wagoner, Henry, Rose and Adam Cline; and sophomore McNinch. These ensemble groups were accompanied by Katie Rose.

"Eighteen students are a lot, especially with 32 students involved," Nichols said. "This could not be done without the help of Mary Shoaf, Katie Rose and Dana Inloes. These woman have helped these students do amazing things and we are grateful to them for sharing their talent, abilities and gifts of music with these students."

The music department will be playing at 2 p.m. on Sunday at the Community Building for graduation and it will be holding a band concert at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday at Fike Park. A desert bar will be featured at the concert.

Nichols said people should come and support the students.

"You will be treated to wonderful music performed by top rated groups," he said.

the doctor again, he told me they would do the surgery anyway."

By then, it was infected and had spread into the eye, and they had to remove his eye.

Skin was removed from his back to cover the surgery site, and after 8 weeks of radiation, the cancer was gone. Anderson said he is now cancer free, but the radiation left the right side of his face with nerve damage.

It was then that he heard about Friends University offering a degree course in Organizational and Leadership Skills in Colby. He moved to Colby and enrolled in the course to finish his degree, and landed a job in the college library. Four weeks before Anderson was to get his degree, they told him they didn't think it was going to work, and let him go.

"So now, I'm trying to get back into painting," he said, "Because I've used up all my savings, to live."

Anderson has found that trying to be a painter with only one eye has its drawbacks.

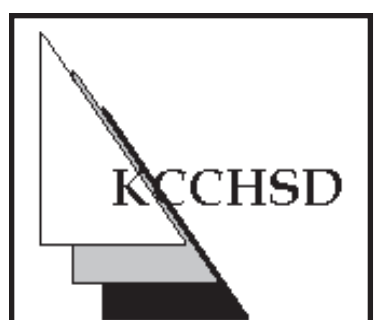

"You need two eyes for depth perception," he said. "I learned that when I tried to pour a glass of milk and the milk all went on the table."

Anderson has been slowly testing his skills by using the sun. He can watch the shadow from the brush on the canvas, as a guide to help him know where his brush is.

"What I'm waiting for now, are some days where the sun will actually shine all day," he said.

Anderson said he has eight years library experience, computer skills, loves to paint, and holds a college degree in Organizational Management and Learning Skills. He attends the Lutheran church, and is hoping to find a niche in Colby.
