Davis Library on the college campus.

Library serves as resource for campus, community use

When students arrive on campus for the start of the fall semester at Colby Community College, they will see several changes, including a new location for the Comprehensive Learning Center.

The center, directed by Brenda Kinderknecht, has been relocated from Thomas Hall to the north side of the H.F. Davis Library.

"The move of the CLC to the library is good for students by consolidating reference materials, technology and tutoring services," said President Dr. Lynn Kreider. "The move also provides additional classroom and office space in Thomas Hall."

"The Massage Therapy program and the Outreach Department will move to the vacated area."

Center services are available free to all students. Tutors are available for English and writing, math, science, business, nursing, social sciences and humanities, as well as basic assistance in computer use and online learning.

While a valuable resource for students, the library is a community service as well. The collection is predominately nonfiction, which supports the academic goals of the college.

The print collection is supported by electronic resources ranging from e-books to online periodical databases to hardware and software. However, library officials recognize the need to fulfill the recreational needs of students and community patrons as well.

The library is a member of the Northwest Kansas Library System, which provides a monthly rotation of fiction and best-sellers along with audio books. In addition, the college library houses Kansas Reports, a compilation of all the cases heard by the Kansas Supreme Court dating to 1862. It is one of two libraries in the state to have a complete set.

Director Tara Schroer was associate director last year and assumed her new duties following the retirement of Carolyn May.

"I'm so pleased that the CLC has moved to the library," said Schroer. "It's a natural fit, and I look forward to meeting new students and members of the community."

Every Friday, the library offers free popcorn to all patrons. We also have a DVD and video collection of current and popular movies and a Wii gaming system. I encourage everyone to stop in and take advantage of all the services we offer."

The library is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

College names student ambassadors

Colby Community College has named 13 sophomores as Student Ambassadors for the 2009-10 school year.

"Student Ambassadors represent the college throughout the year in many capacities," said Admissions Director Nikol Nolan. "They serve as peer mentors and are leaders on the campus, in addition to assisting with activities in the Admissions Department."

Student Ambassadors receive $1,000 scholarships. In return, they help with orientation, move new students into dorms, provide tours throughout the year to prospective students and their parents, answer the phones and do other work each week in the admissions office.

The new Ambassadors are Christine Chamberlain, W.D. McNeely and Cody Wark of Colby; Neal Jeffery, Mankato; Larissa LaShell, Durango, Colo.; Jessica Merino and Cassie Smatana of Albuquerque; Neil Melton, Courtland; Brittany Ritter, Dresden; Alex Owens, Flower Mound, Texas; Jessica Schmidt, Melvern; Aranda Stolz, Burlington, Colo.; and Jessica Swanek, Doniphan, Neb.

Dedication set for health building

Colby Community College will honor Pierre C. "Pete" Henry for his generosity and support of education at 5 p.m. next Monday with a formal dedication ceremony on the south side of the Health Sciences Building.

To commemorate his philanthropic efforts, the college board voted at the June meeting to rename the facility the Pierre C. Henry Allied Health Building.

"Pierre Henry was very interested in assisting students to further their education and in health-care issues," said board Chair Kenton Krehbiel. "His contributions to promote mental, physical and social health of all students continued after his death in 2002 with the establishment of the Pierre Henry Foundation. The Foundation recently authorized $100,000 for the fitness center/wrestling practice facility to be built on the campus."

The foundation is managed by a board including Krehbiel, Bill Biel, Bill Dowell, Lou Hines and Wayne Carpenter.

In 1949, Henry rented ground south of Brewster from former neighbors in Nebraska, and adapted his Nebraska farming experiences to western Kansas. He never farmed prime cultivated land. He saw each acre as unique and managed each type of soil to achieve maximum productivity.

Henry watched his neighbors and learned from their successes and mistakes. He managed his money frugally, investing in good machinery and income-producing assets but lived a spartan life. He did almost all the work on the farm until he was 88, and until his death in 2002 made all the management decisions.

Academic and technical training scholarships from the Pierre C. Henry Foundation are awarded to students who demonstrate a need in Cheyenne, Decatur, Gove, Logan, Rawlins, Sheridan, Sherman, Thomas and Wallace counties.

The public is invited to attend the dedication. For information, call Debbie Schwanke at 460-5411.

Thank You

Wings Upon the Prairie, Inc. 785 N. Franklin is a non for profit organization that promotes independence and socialization for adults who suffer from a severe and persistent mental illness. We provide a safe and relaxed environment where consumers of mental health are offered classes such as depression, stress and anger management, life skills, leadership opportunities and community educational field trips. We also provide opportunities to members to work on local, state and national boards that promote mental health wellness. At this time we would like to thank the Colby community for its continued support. We would especially like to thank Vern and Charles Schwanke from Colby Bowl, Karen O'Neal from Personal Touch, Susan Orr and Cheryl Edmondson from Sunflower Bank, Jeff Horlacher from Horlacher Jewelers, Devra Shuller from Taxes and More and Emily Strange and the nursing students from Colby Community College.
