lace counties. Sherman County is the only one that contributes any funds for the program, by way of an office in Goodland. The center also receives state funds.

Unruh told the commissioners their office cannot deny services to anyone on their inability to pay, and that Wacker and Van Horn travel to Goodland two times a week, on their own nickel.

"There may come a time when you will have to go to the Kansas Association of Addiction Professionals to protect your revenue stream," said Commissioner Steele.

The board agreed to keep the commissioners informed of their activities in the future.

Kim Benson met with the commissioners to express a concern that when her father needed transported to another hospital recently the Thomas County Ambulance Service didn't have enough staff to cover ing numbers. He said the service normally so they could discuss the problem.

concerns about the service and wondered what the reasons might be.

Emergency Services Director, Ken Gatlin was there to respond to her questions. He said they had four volunteers out because of illness when her situation arose, and he was out on vacation.

"To take an ambulance out of town when it wasn't an emergency would have left the county uncovered for the time it took to get to and from Wichita," he said.

"We were covered for "first out" service, but transfer staff was unavailable at that time. When we are a volunteer service, it is difficult to do something like this, when the volunteers all have other jobs, and it does limit our having people available," he said.

Gatlin said they would normally like to do a transfer, and that the service has a new class starting this Tuesday night, with eight enrolled, so that should help with the staff-his transfer. She said she had heard other takes 700 calls a year, and he thought most for extra people.

The commissioners visited with John Urban, a farmer in northern Thomas County, by speaker phone about an ongoing issue with bindweed spraying on his land. Urban claimed that he needs to be reimbursed for a 25 percent discount on chemicals offered by the county.

'We need to have the receipts to show what you paid for those chemicals before we can make any adjustments," Christiansen said.

"We need receipts and quantities," said Road and Bridge Director and weed department supervisor, Clair Schrock, "He owes for past spraying, where he furnished the chemicals and we did the spraying."

Urban indicated over the speaker phone that Schrock wasn't telling the truth, and that he wanted the spraying bill in his hands

"You need to make an appointment and services in Northwest Kansas were looking be at our meeting next week, John," Christiansen said, "and you need to quit calling and hassling the ladies in the offices because that isn't getting anything solved."

Steele said they would work on what figures they have and would hopefully get together with Urban to work out the issue. In other business, the commissioners:

· Discussed making sure the bank statements are reconciled on a regular form each month instead of on the back of the envelope that comes from the bank.

• Discussed the 10 acre survey which is an audit by the State Department of Agriculture as to where they have treated musk thistle.

· Heard from County Attorney Bruce Flipse, that over $300,000 in delinquent taxes and penalties had been collected, and the few remaining parcels for the tax sale would be ready for publication before long.

Federal prosecutors filed fraud charges this week against three people who worked at Jefferson's Liquor Palace.

The alleged scheme worked this way: Food stamp recipients would get cash from the store in exchange for swiping larger amounts off their electronic cards. The store would then be reimbursed by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

And in some transactions, the government says the store provided informants Viagra, liquor and porn in exchange for swiping about $2,000 off food stamp cards.

The government says fraud at the store topped $130,000 over three years. The store is closed.

Any persons who object to or protest this application shall be required to file their objections or protest with the Conservation Division of the State Corporation Commission of the State of Kansas within fifteen (15) days from the date of this publication. These protests shall be pursuant to Commission regulations and must state specific reasons why the grant of the application may cause waste, violate correlative rights or pollute the natural resources of the State of Kansas.

All persons interested or concerned shall take notice of the foregoing and shall govern themselves accordingly.
