Illinois library receives vinyl record 47 years overdue

EAST PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — You can't blame the person who recently returned an old vinyl record to an Illinois library for slipping quickly out the door. The record was a little late. OK, 47 years late. Fondulac District Library Director Amy Falasz-Peterson says the album by 1950s pop singer Julius

La Rosa was checked out Feb. 12, 1962, and returned this month. She says a person told library officials that they found the record among the belongings of a family member who had died, then left. It's been so long since the record was checked out the library doesn't know who the scofflaw was, but the fine comes to $871.90.
