with the organization for overhead costs. The amounts were the same as last year.

The report said cardboard for recycling sold for a high in June 2008 of $70 a ton, a low of $14 a ton in December 2008 and is now at $42 a ton. The commissioners were encouraged that prices are edging up, noting that most recyclables show better prices after the lows experienced last year.

County Appraiser Mary Cech and Marty Bieker of R&S Mapping Services came to the commissioners for approval on a $12,200 bill to "square up" mapping ser-tract last year was $68,000, she said, but the agreement was split in two for budgeting purposes. It covers the mapping equipment and maintenance agreement on the geographical information systems software, which can show every piece of land in the

> "I would remind them that any upgrades or furniture, or anything else, once given to the offices in the complex, become the property of the county," said Commissioner Steele.

> Road Supervisor Clair Schrock told the commissioners that Dennis Odom of Team Lab Chemical Corp. had called about an increase in the price of chemical to be used on the Campus Road. He said if the county wanted to lock in the 2009 price, they could do it by placing the order now. The company will store it free until time to use it on Schrock thought they would be ready to start the project as soon as everything thaws. He also discussed sealing the Mingo Road before the Chase bridge south of town on K-25 is closed, since traffic may be detoured to the Mingo Road.

In other business, the commissioners: · Approved raising the purchase limit for departments from $350 to $500.

 Approved a contract with Cory Swartz for purchase of $23,000 in tax credits.

• Approved tax abatements of $1,815.

said because of $1 billion in new spending in recent years, schools are better positioned to weather the state's financial downturn.

"Fortunately, whether it's the courts forcing the Legislature to do it or the Legislature doing it, we were in position to make some substantial investments in the schools before the recession hit," said O'Neal, a Hutchinson Republican, "so they've got more capacity to absorb this type of recession than most agencies.

For Wichita, the state's largest school district, with more than 49,600 students, $50 per student will minimize further cuts but not tem that we had five or 10 years prevent them, the district's lobby-

Diane Gjerstad said district officials have used federal funds to maintain classroom support programs, but those could be lost, along with numerous teaching positions districtwide.

"We are concerned about the support services that Wichita has built," she said. "Those are being eroded. That's important because of demographics (that includes many minority students and pov-
