Local lawmakers appearing on public television tonight

The longest running series on Smoky Hills Public Television, Kansas Legislature, begins its 27th season tonight with a guest lineup including Rep. Jim Morrison (R, Colby) and Senator Ralph Ostmeyer (R, Grinnell).

Dr. Chris Crawford, Fort Hays State University's Docking Institute, hosts the first program which will also have Rep. Bob Bethell (R, Aiden), Rep. Mitch Holmes (R, St. John), and Rep. John Faber (R, Brewster) as guests.

The program features Kansas representatives and senators discussing state issues and answering viewer call-in questions. The hour-long program is at 8 p.m. on Fridays.

The station also began its new season of Doctors On Call this week with an hour-long special on heart disease featuring Dr. Gary Benton and Dr. Jeffrey Curtis from the DeBakey Heart Institute in Hays.

Kari Sparks is the host while the doctors answer medical questions from viewers who call or email during this live production. Ten half-hour shows and four hour shows are scheduled.

Programs about diabetes, digestive disorders, eye health and cancer and the mind/body connection are included in the line-up.

Doctors on Call airs live on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. and repeats the recorded show on Sundays at 3:30 p.m.
