Sheriff Rod Taylor brought commissioners a bill from Larry Heier Plumbing for $5,100 for installation of a new stainless steel commode in the jail. He said Heier had knocked off a $676 charge for an ary. air control faucet that should have not appeared on the bill. Taylor asked permission to hold payment until he had gotten a labor breakdown. The old commode had been in the jail for 20 years, he said, and was prone to flooding due to prisoner mischief.

Colby High graduate gets K-State scholarship

A Colby High graduate has been until his death in 2003. It was first selected for the 2009-2010 Joseph awarded in 2006. Lieber Memorial Cooperative Scholarship at Kansas State University, named for a long-time leader of Kansas co-ops.

Wyatt Rundel, a senior majoring in agribusiness with a minor in business, operates Mobile Disc Jockey Service, works for Deaver Custom Combining and is an independent contractor for Wildcat Services. After graduation, he says he plans to pursue a career in agricultural banking and lending. He is the son of Tom and Nancy Rundel of Colby.

The scholarship was established in honor of Joe Lieber, executive for the scholarship through the vice-president, president and chief university's foundation. For inforexecutive officer of the Kansas mation, e-mail dbarton@ksu.edu. Cooperative Council from 1986
