Books help in sprucing up

Thank you to all who helped with the Murder Mystery and for those who attended. We had a great time!

I want to remind you about the book discussion that will be held at 7 p.m. next Thursday. We will be discussing "Mules and Men" by Zora Neale Hurston. Kansas Humanities Council speaker Ann Birney will lead the discussion. If you are looking for an Irish book, come and find one in the display case or out on the reference shelves.

I found myself in the non-fiction section again this week, and as a result have a few interesting books you might like to peruse. The first is compliments of Joanne Sunderman. He thought I needed to tell you about the good book, "Unclutter Your Life In One Week!!" by Erin Rooney Doland. Since the book has eight chapters, a person can read a chapter a day and then consider changes that could be made in that area on that day. My suggestion is to keep it for the two weeks that you can check it out, and spend two days on each chapter. Then return it before it gets buried in some of the left over clutter you have not quite won over! Actually, each chapter has short suggestions for better organization. There are chapters about work and getting the most out of your time. One section helps the reader decide whether it is time to give up a hobby.

A second book that might help you when you are uncluttering your closet is "Steal This Style," by Sherrie Mathieson. The theme is that moms and daughters can swap wardrobe secrets. What the author has done is take actual mothers and daughters, and have them dress in similar type clothing appropriate for age and activity. Yet the older person does not look old but with a vibrant look, while the young person has a style that fits the person.

A third book is "Small Space Solutions," by Libby Langdon. The author gives hints on what makes rooms look bigger, what type of furniture to use for a space and how to declutter your world. She covers each area of the home and gives lots of visual examples. In the back she provides a grouping of paint colors that work well together. The book itself has a cheerful spirit and can do attitude about it.

Three other books you might want to consider are: "The Biggest Loser Simple Swaps: 100 Easy Changes to Start Living a Healthier Lifestyle," by Cheryl Forberg. This book has the actual losers of large amounts of weight tell the reader some of things they swapped out of their lives to help them become successful at losing weight. It also gives greatlooking recipes and health advice. This book is not about taking life through food out of our lives, but living with great choices and al-

Benkelman, Neb., natives Erika (Brown) and Bob Clark welcomed the arrival of premature twin daughters, Aspen, 1 pound, 14 ounces, and Jerri, 1 pound, 15 ounces, on Feb. 18. The twins were born 12 weeks early by caesarian section.

The girls have spent most of their first two weeks (of a possible six to eight) in the High-Risk Neonatal Intensive Care Unit with specialized staff. The family website, www.clarkfamilytoday.com, says the girls' weight is up to 2 pounds, 5 ounces, and they will soon be moved to graduate intensive care.

The other book is "Artistic Fitness: 50 Quick Exercises to Shape Up Your Drawing Skills" by Ed Tadem. This book is about becoming better at drawing and art. The author actually takes the reader through exercises to learn to draw even the most basic line. For some wanting to loose weight, this might actually become a way to focus on including something that feeds the soul rather than feeling deprived due to the lack of food. If you have always wanted to try and draw, this is the book for you!

I would like to ask that if you have books to donate to the library for the book sale, please bring them inside the library. We have had several instances where patrons leave loads of books in our book drop. It takes us a number of trips to get them inside, and then they are mixed with the books for checkout. This causes us a bit of extra handling and sorting. If you have quite a few boxes, call us at 460-4470 and we can have you use the drive-through area and bring them through the back door.

The Census Bureau will be at the library beginning at 4:30 p.m. Monday to assist anyone who needs help filling out their census survey. Free tax help is still available through Alvin Volk from 1:30 to 4 p.m. each Thursday for those who are low- and middle-income with special attention to those age 60 and older. During spring break, next week, the basement or Youth Activity Center, "YAC" will be open from 1 to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday. See you in the library!

Corrections

An article, "Colby kid wrestlers collecting medals," on Page 8 of the Wednesday, March 10, Colby Free Press incorrectly said Tucker Barnum was named outstanding wrestler of the month in the 8 and under group at Ulysses. It was Tucker Branum, son of Travis and Amy Branum, who won the award. This was a typing error. * * * * *
