Vote online in poster contest

The Arbor Day Foundation invites students, teachers, art-lovers, tree enthusiasts and others to vote for their favorite entry in the 2010 Arbor Day National Poster Contest. Visitors to www.arborday.org/postercontest can vote online for the poster they like best starting on Monday. Voting will end at 5 p.m. Friday.

"This is the second straight year we've asked people to vote for their favorite poster online, and by doing so we are encouraging people from every state to help determine the winner," said Michelle Saulnier-Scribner, program director of the nonprofit foundation.

The poster that receives the most votes will automatically move into the final round of judging to determine the national winner, to be announced on April 30, National Arbor Day.
