Wrong address nets charges

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Prosecutors say an Ohio inmate's letter to his mother included detailed instructions on how to sneak drugs to him — but lacked the correct ZIP code.

Ottawa County Sheriff Bob Bratton says the letter was returned to the Port Clinton jail, where corrections officers read it along with the other incoming mail.

Donald Dudrow III of Toledo was indicted on charges of attempted drug trafficking and trying to get drugs into a correctional facility.

He was in jail on a probation violation.

Betty graduated High School in 1954 from Gem High School and after that she worked at St. Thomas Hospital as a nurse's aide and then for Southwestern Bell for about ten years. Betty then stayed home to raise her children, returning to work as operational manager at the Colby Federal Land Bank for more than 30 years where she enjoyed the many customers and friendships she made there over the years.
