Fake agents pitch health-care scams

TOPEKA - While legislators, consumers and state regulators work to grasp the implications of the new federal health reform law, con artists are already trying to scam Kansans with fake health care products.
 State Insurance Commissioner Sandy Praeger said reports indicate that con artists are showing up at people's homes, especially those of older Kansans, representing themselves as agents of the federal government selling "ObamaCare" insurance policies.
 "The federal government employees, as well as the rest of us, are sorting out the details of the new law," Commissioner Praeger said, "but unsolicited contact such as this is a scheme to defraud you of your money."

 Commissioner Praeger said that Kansans should always use caution and common sense when making insurance decisions.
 "We always say, 'Stop. Call. Confirm.'" Commissioner Praeger said. "If it doesn't seem right, Stop the transaction, Call the Kansas Insurance Department and Confirm an agent or program is licensed to do business in Kansas."
 The department's Consumer Hotline number is (800) 432-2484.

Foundation taking grant applications now

The Walmart Foundation's Kansas State Giving Program is now accepting grant applications from non-profit organizations across the state. Interested organizations may apply online at www.walmart-foundation.org. The minimum award for each grant is $25,000.
 The Walmart Foundation is focused on funding community programs. Organizations must currently operate under the tax-exempt status Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.
 "The Kansas State Giving Program is focused on funding much-needed community programs, especially those that address hunger, homelessness, education, job training and important basic needs," said Ryan Irsik, Senior Manager of Public Affairs for Walmart.

 In 2009, Kansas organizations received $324,000. These recipients included: American Diabetes Association, Catholic Charities of Northeast Kansas, Inc., First Book, Flint Hills Breadbasket, Harvesters - The Community Food Network, Inter-Faith Ministries, Saint Francis Community and Family Services, Inc., and Special Olympics Kansas, Inc.
