Corrections

An engagement announcement on Page 4 of the Monday, May 3, edition of the Colby Free Press incorrectly spelled the name of Kayla Rynelle Sloan. Her mother's name also was misspelled. It is Jeanne. The groom-to-be is a junior at the School of Animal Science at Kansas State University. These mistakes resulted from reporting errors, compounded by editing errors.

Washington racks up late fees

NEW YORK (AP) — If George Washington were alive today, he might face a hefty overdue library fine.

New York City's oldest library says one of its ledgers shows that the president has racked up 220 years' worth of late fees on two books he borrowed but never returned.

One of the books was the "Law of Nations," which deals with international relations. The other was a volume of debates from Britain's House of Commons.

Both were due on Nov. 2, 1789. Mark Bartlett, head librarian at the New York Society Library, says the institution isn't seeking payment, but would love to get the books back.

The ledger also lists books being taken out by other founding fathers, including Alexander Hamilton, Aaron Burr and John Jay.

The entry on Washington simply lists the borrower as "president."
