Four new faces join newspaper

Full time sports reporter Kayla Cornett joined the Free Press staff on June 1. Kayla moved to Colby from Boulder, Colo., where she had been studying journalism with an emphasis on news and editing at the University of Colorado. Cornett said she has just one class left - which she will take online this summer - to graduate.

Cornett is originally from Pueblo, Colo., and graduated from high school there in 2007.

A fan of many different kinds of sports, Cornett said she particularly enjoys watching baseball after having played softball in school. In her spare time she enjoys reading, watching television and spending time with friends and family.

Cornett's duties include covering local sports events as well as opinion and general writing.

Christina Beringer also joined the staff on June 1 as a second part-time society reporter.

"I'm super excited to be here," she said. Beringer is a native of Colby. She graduated from Colby High School in 2005 and Colby Community College in 2007 with an Associate of Arts degree.

She worked as an administrative assistant for the Thomas County Community Foundation and later attended Fort Hays State University. She graduated in 2010 with a degree in communications studies.

Beringer also works part time at The Loft, a home interior gift shop in the Oasis Travel Center. She recently married Curt Beringer and together the two own C&C Communication, a Viaero Wireless provider.

Beringer is a fan of the Denver Broncos - she and her husband have season tickets - and is an aspiring golfer and scrapbooker.

Her duties at the Free Press include writing up society news, general news writing and event coverage.

Several projects planned for U.S. 36 lion and rail $40 million. Cities and counties will get $1.6 billion.

On U.S. 36, the largest project this year will be from the K-383 junction east to the Norton-Phillips County line. A contractor will mill off three inches of old pavement and replace it with a threeinch overlay of new asphalt.

In Oberlin, crews will mill off an inch and a half of old pavement and replace it with an inch and a half new asphalt. State crews will do much of the work, hauling asphalt and guiding traffic around the work area, from Penn Avenue east to the elevator entrance. Work could begin in July or August, Stewart said. The contractor, Venture Corp., has two paving jobs south of town on U.S. 83 and one on K-9 around Allison.

Another project, in Smith County, will include a half-inch mill and an overlay of 1 1/2 inches of new pavement. In Smith Center, in another cooperative project, state crews will help, with the contractor milling the pavement from Main Street to the east city limits, then laying down an overlay of new asphalt.

Stewart said three bridges east of Oberlin in Decatur County are scheduled for bids in 2013, with work to start in spring 2014. The three now are posted against heavy trucks. All will be replaced while one-lane traffic is carried on either the old or new bridge.

In District 2 in central Kansas, he said, the only project on U.S. 36 this year is a conventional asphalt seal on the four-lane segton County. Rebuilding the U.S.

some work has been done on the existing pavement.

County, includes replacing two bridges east of the U.S. 75 interchange at Fairview. In Doniphan County, concrete pavement on 14.6 miles of road west of Troy is being patched in a $700,000 job.

Mike Moriarty from the department's Bureau of Transportation Planning talked about two projects on U.S. 36 that didn't make the T-Works plan last year. One was the U.S. 81 interchange in Belleville, which was built with diamond ramps rather than a cloverleaf to avoid having to demolish a motel and buy other surrounding propertv.

More than 400 projects were submitted for the improvement phase of the highway program, he noted. The U.S. 36 projects scored high, but not high enough to make the final list.

Expansion to four lanes of the Wathena-Troy segment of U.S. 36, at the top of the association's wish list, was one of those.

"That does not mean these are not good projects," Moriarty said. "They did score very well. Hard decisions had to be made.'

He noted that "every inch" of U.S. 36 will receive some maintenance work during the 10-year plan. The state will select more projects for the plan as money becomes available.

"I do encourage you all to stay tuned, keep in touch and keep talking with us," he said. "The projects that have the best momentum are the ones that move forward."

About 35 people from the Philment at the east end of Washing- lipsburg area and across the state came for the meeting and lunch-36-U.S. 81 interchange did not eon, held at the Huck Boyd Commake the state's list of 27 im- munity Center. provement projects, he noted, but Officers and directors of the as-

In conservation district, which is partially funded by the Kansas Department of Agriculture and Thomas County. They asked the commissioners to consider allocating $30,000, the same amount as last year.

Speaking for the Regional Recycling Center was coordinator Lynett Koon. She said she is waiting to get population statistics from the City of Colby before she can calculate membership dues. In the past, dues have been $4 per capita, half received in January from the county, then a reevaluation is done in July to determine if the other half is needed. Koon said that the 2010 Census reported a population drop for Thomas County totaling a decrease of about $11,000 for the center. Koon also told the commissioners that a replacement is needed to fill a board vacancy left by Beverly Eicher, a former Colby City Council member. No candidates were suggested.

Schrock said it is illegal to spray ditches and they are having issues with area landowners who the past, warning letters have been issued by his office and now County Attorney Kevin Berens has agreed to help enforce them.

The commissioners told Schrock that they will support Berens in his decision to prosecute and take action if necessary. Schrock also said that his office will not be giving out any more hay permits and that they will begin mowing ditches.

Commissioner Paul Steele asked Schrock for a musk thistle update on the Urban property, old business from last week. He said that it is all taken care of thanks to cooperation from the family.

• Were presented with information about Computer Solutions, Inc., a company based in Smith Center. Representatives wanted to inform the commissioners about services they offer, which include database development, e-mail hosting, network security and mobile computing.
