Junior sheep day planned for March

Saturday, March 31 is the date for the Kansas Junior Sheep Producer Day at Kansas State University's Weber Arena in Manhattan. The day will bring together youth, parents, sheep project leaders and others to increase their knowledge about sheep production and management. "The event is designed for all ages and skill levels," said Chelsea Tomascik, youth livestock coordinator at K-State. "We work hard to provide a hands-on learning experience for younger participants."

Registration begins at 8:45 a.m., with the program starting at 9:30 a.m. Featured speakers and K-State faculty and staff will cover such topics as selecting your youth sheep project; facilities, general care and health; breeds and sheep identification; shearing and fitting for the show; nutrition; nose printing and DNA and showmanship. All participants will receive a T-shirt and a complimentary lunch. Cost to register is $15 per person if postmarked by Friday, March 9; $20 after that date. Information and printable registration forms are available by contacting Chelsea Tomascik (tomascik@ksu.edu or 785-532-1264) or Brian Faris (brfaris@ksu.edu or (785) 532-1242) or go to www.YouthLivestock.KSU.edu.
