

Spring concert at Golden Plains highlights student accomplishment

By Jacquelyn Armstrong
Golden Plains High School
 Golden Plains Middle and High School presented their spring concert on April 26. The middle school choir began the concert with four songs. Five pieces performed by the middle school and high school choirs combined followed. The high school band, with six members including Hannah Antholz, Jacob Antholz, Emmy Fringer, Cynthia Mervin, Caitlin Spresser and Camron Spresser, performed two lively pieces. The concert concluded with seven songs performed by the high school choir. Two days after the concert came the State Music Festival. Jacob Antholz gave the judges a taste of his trumpet skills and received a II rating. The girls ensemble was awarded a II for their performance as well. For Hannah Antholz's senior year, she received a I in both her xylophone and vocal performances. She has participated in the State Music Festival every year since she was a freshman. "Each year has been special at State Music Festival," she said, "but receiving a I just made my final year memorable."
