

Thomas County Fair Events

An antique tractor (left) was on display Wednesday at the Thomas County Fairgrounds after it won a blue ribbon in the Antique Tractor Show, which was judged earlier in the day. Clete Scheer of Elsmere, Neb., (above) threw his hands out to signify that he was done tying his calf Monday during the tie down roping event in the Kansas Professional Rodeo Association rodeo at the fairgrounds. Scheer took second place with a time of 10.4 seconds and won $444.69.

Braden Thummel (above left), Brett Roulier (behind Thummel), Carter Stanley and Josh Olson showed their pigs Wednesday for the Junior Swine Showmanship class at the Thomas County Fairgrounds. A rodeo participant (below) got caught by the camera just as he was dismounting after roping his calf Monday in the KPRA Rodeo. Cassie Wells (right) examined her rabbit Tuesday in the showmanship category under the direction of judge Conall Addison for the Cat, Rabbit, Poultry and Hand Pet Show in the small animal barn at the fairgrounds.

Photos taken by Marian Ballard,
Sam Dieter and Kathryn Ballard