Inmate found in jail's garden

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) - A Michigan inmate who tried to escape by burying himself in a prison garden has been sentenced to an additional two years behind bars.

Authorities say Edwin Cota was found buried in August at the Brooks prison in Muskegon. He had a sheet tied in knots that he had hoped to use to get over the fence.

The Muskegon Chronicle (bit.ly/U9uGve) says Cota was sentenced to at least two years in prison Thursday after earlier pleading no contest to the attempted escape.

In August, officials said Cota's scheme fell apart when guards interviewed his cellmate, who had appeared nervous.
