Goodland graduates to be camp counselors

Jessica Kashka, Seth Stone, and Brett Randolph, all Goodland High School graduates, have been selected to be counselors at the Butcher County Community College Showchoir Showcase Camp being held July 9-14 in El Dorado.

They were chosen because of their level of responsibility, dedication to the college music department and commitment to music.

They and nine other counselors will be in charge of 350 campers from Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Texas. The six-day camp involves singing and dancing rehearsals. There will also be guest clinicians from all over the United States at the camp.

Kashka graduated in 1998 from the college with an associate degree in fine arts.

She is now a student at Wichita State University, where she is majoring in music education and dance. She also teaches dance in the Wichita area. Stone attended the college for the 1997-1998 school year.

He is now attending Kansas State University and is majoring in secondary education.

Randolph is currently attending the college, where he will be a sophomore this fall.

Kashka and Stone were in the college's Headliner Showchoir and Randolph is a current member of it.

The choir is made up of 24 members who are accompanied by a full combo band.

They rehearse three times a week with their director and choreographer, Valerie Lippoldt Mack.
