

Dogs take Eagles out of flight, 58-0

The Brewster Bulldogs moved their season record to 4-0 Friday night when they hosted the Healy/Utica Eagles.

The 58-0 victory was in front of a smaller crowd than usual due to the cold weather and the start of fall harvest.

Brewster's defense was stifling, and the visitors were unable to put very many offensive yards on their stat sheet. The Dawgs defense of the night had 7 sacks, 4 interceptions, and 2 fumble recoveries to keep the Eagles from crossing the goal line during the game.

On the offensive side, Brewster had a total combined offense of 303 yards. Jay Reid threw for 118 yards during the night with 5 touchdown passes, while Clint Horinek ran for 142-yards on 12 carries.

Brewster's Reid threw the first strike of the game, a 3-yard pass to Brett Arnberger, to put the Dawgs' up by 6 points. Reid then took to the air three times, throwing touchdown passes of 22-yards to Horinek, a 6-yard pass to Jacob Falcon, and hooking up with Arnberger one more time for a 24-yard pass. The first rushing score of the game came on a Reid 7-yard run into the end zone, giving the Bulldogs, at the end of the first quarter, a 36-0 lead.

The second quarter was more of the same when Horinek ran the ball for a 50-yard touchdown, and later caught a 15-yard touchdown pass from Reid, giving Horinek a total of 194 yards on offense for the night.

The defense made Brewster's last trip to the end zone when Justin Jamison intercepted a pass and ran it back 56-yards for the 6 points.

That brought the end to the game in two quarters with the final score of 58-0.

Offensive leaders on the night were Horinek 12/142 yards, Reid 3/24 yards in rushing. Receivers were Arnberger with 4/61 yards and Horinek 3/52 yards, while Jacob Falcon was 1/5 yards on the night. Reid connected on 8/9 passes throwing for 118 yards.

The Dawgs' defensive leaders were Reid with 16 tackles, J.R. Baird 10 tackles, 3 sacks and 2 fumble recoveries, while Nick Jueneman had 8 tackles and 2 sacks in the game. Arnberger went 7/307 yards in kickoffs, averaging 43 yards per kick followed by Ty Dixon with 2/65 yards.

The Bulldogs will be at home this week when the Tri-Plains Vikings come to town at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Clint Horinek caught a pass from Jay Reid on a touchdown play during the Bulldogs' game against the Healy/Utica Eagles on Friday. The Bulldogs won the game, 58-0. They will play at home tonight against the Vikings at 7:30 p.m.

U.S. jumper loses gold by half a foot

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Marion Jones lost out on her bid for five track and field golds by less than half a foot.

Jones stepped over the foul line on four of her six attempts in the finals of the long jump Friday.

The best of her two legal jumps covered 22 feet, 8 1/4 inches, but that was still three inches shy of German gold medalist Heike Drechsler's best effort.

The loss crushed Jones' attempt to win five track and field gold medals in a single Olympics. No female athlete has won five track golds in an entire career.

Nobody came close to Jones in either the 100 or 200 meters, her first two races. The long jump is her weakest event.

Her style has often been criticized for relying too much on pure speed, not enough on good form, and on a hot night Jones failed to deliver one of her occasional amazing jumps.

Drechsler hugged Jones, and then danced with a German flag. Italian Fiona May finished second.

"I don't regret at all saying I was going to go for five," Jones said. "I had a shot, and it just didn't pan out."

Jones will still compete in the 400- and 1,600-meter relay finals Saturday, but golds are not assured in those events, either.

World-class sprinters Gail Devers and Inger Miller each withdrew from the 400 earlier Friday because of hamstring injuries.

The United States stayed out front in the medal count Thursday with 79 (33 gold, 19 silver, 27 bronze) to Russia's 61 (20-19-22) and China's 56 (26-15-15).

BASKETBALL: An air ball at the buzzer. That's all that separated the Dream Team from disaster.

Lithuania took the U.S. men right to the edge of an enormous upset but lost 85-83 when Sarunas Jasikevicius' 3-pointer went left of the rim, allowing the Americans to escape into the finals of the Olympic tournament against France.

It was the closest game for the United States since it started stocking its Olympic team with NBA players in 1992.

Lithuania lost by nine to the Americans in round-robin play, an unimaginably close game before the 2000 Olympics. The semifinal was much tighter.

The U.S. women also found the going tough in their semifinal, but Natalie Williams' strong inside play helped the United States pull away from South Korea in the second half and win 78-65. The Americans led by only two points with less than 14 minutes to play.

The U.S. team had defeated the feisty Koreans 89-75 in a prelim round game.

Australia beat Brazil 64-52 in the other semifinal and plays the United States in Saturday's women final. The men play for the gold Sunday.

SOCCER: The United States finished the Sydney Games with its streak intact: The Americans still have never won an Olympic men's soccer medal.

After reaching the semifinals, the U.S. men dropped two straight, including Friday's 2-0 loss to Chile in the bronze medal game.

Chilean striker Ivan Zamorano scored on a penalty kick in the 70th minute, then sealed the win with another goal in the 84th minute.
