Six generations gather

Goodland residents Zona (Hawks) Price, Beulah (Hawks) McClung, Henry Hawks and Cloyd Hawks recently received a six generation picture of some of their relatives.

The Doerfers and Hawks are former Goodland residents.

Voters oust Trego sheriff

WaKEENEY (AP)—On the same day a judge bound him over for trial on three felony counts relating to the primary election, voters in Trego County went to the polls to oust embattled Sheriff Jerry White.

His morning started out Tuesday with a magistrate judge binding him over for trial on felony charges relating to the primary election.

He had been charged last October with three felonies and five misdemeanors in connection with allegations that he altered an authorization report for a criminal background check of Jason Walt, the sheriff's deputy who had indicated he planned to run against White in the primary election.

Walt's name did not appear on primary election ballots.

But on Tuesday, voters in Trego County went to the polls and ousted White as their sheriff. On a vote of 969 to 834 they instead elected Curt Bender, a WaKeeney police officer.

White said Wednesday his future plans were uncertain but said the election had ended his law enforcement career.

Accident sends driver to hospital; injuries are minor

An accident on Walnut and Fifth Street sent one young driver to the hospital this morning.

Police Chief Ray Smee said the driver was taken to Goodland Regional Medical Center with minor cuts and bruises, but he didn't have any other injuries.

Fire Chief Dean Jensen said his department was paged to the accident at 7 a.m., but before they could get to the scene they were called back in.
