

Bulldogs get victory No. 14

The Brewster Bulldogs traveled to Rexford for a rescheduled contest on Saturday night to take on the Bulldogs of eastern Thomas County.

The western 'Dawgs recorded their 14th win of the season defeating Golden Plains 61-42.

Again, the 'Dawgs struggled offensively in the first quarter, scoring only 12 points, but the defense held Golden Plains' offense to only eight.

Clint Horinek saw very little playing time as he was whistled for three fouls by the 4:42 mark in the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Brewster put up 16 points while holding Golden Plains to only four. P.J. Crumbaker had a good first half, hitting 3 of 4 from behind the arc to lead the Bulldogs at the half with 11 points.

In the third and fourth quarters, both teams were even. Brewster added 17 points and 16 points the last two quarters while Golden Plains tossed in 16 and 14. Horinek and Brett Arnberger both fouled out in the fourth quarter.

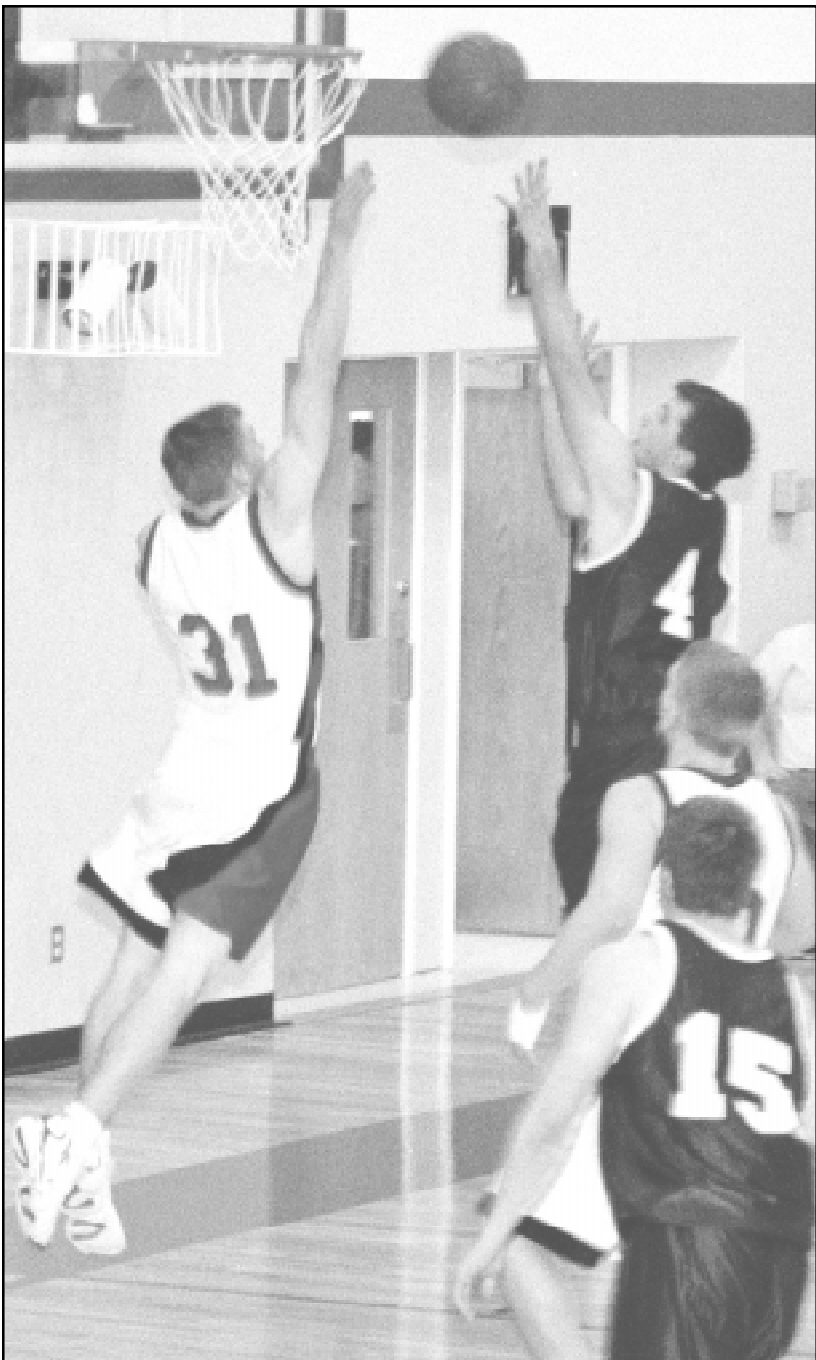

Jay Reid led all scorers with 29 points along with 9 rebounds, 4 assists, and 3 steals on the night. Senior Crumbaker had 13 points, 3 rebounds, one assist and a steal. Horinek scored 7 points, and grabbed 4 rebounds.

Justin Jamison tossed in 3 points, pulled down 4 rebounds, and had a steal and one assist in the contest. Arnberger rounded out the first five with 2 points, 6 rebounds, four steals, and one assist in the game.

Once again Brewster's bench came in and played very well and gave the 'Dawgs lots of good minutes. Jacob Falcon had 3 points, two rebounds, two assists, and one steal while Rob Garner scored two points, 2 rebounds, one assist a steal and a blocked shot. Bobby Tubbs had two points and an assist in the game. J.R. Baird and John Luckert also played well with Baird playing on a tender ankle after rolling it in the junior varsity game.

Brewster will host the Oakley Plainsman tonight with the junior varsity games beginning at 5 p.m. Central Time. Girls and boys junior varsity will each play two quarters, followed by the girls varsity and then the boys varsity game.

Brewster's Justin Jamison went high to take a shot against Golden Plains on Tuesday. Brewster won the game 61-42.

Missouri prepares for Kansas State

By R.B. Fallstrom
AP Sports Writer

Just like the first time around, Missouri's rematch against Kansas State Wednesday night in Columbia, Mo., comes on one day's rest and after an emotional game.

The Tigers lost 69-66 at Oklahoma State Monday in the Cowboys' first game since the fatal plane crash that killed 10 people associated with the program. That game had been postponed for two days.

Though the situation pales by comparison, Missouri (14-7, 5-3) beat Iowa State in four overtimes two days before the first Kansas State game on Jan. 16. The team appeared mentally exhausted against the Wildcats and were never in the game, losing 80-59.

"It's no question we were drained from the Iowa State game, but we're going to be in the same situation," coach Quin Snyder said. "I think they're a tough team to prepare for on one day and we're getting them twice. "I think they're playing as well as anybody in the league right now."

That game started a three-game losing streak for Missouri, which had cracked the Top 25 for the first time in two seasons.

"I don't think we overlooked them," Snyder said. "Since that game, people have gotten a little taste of what we got. They're playing real good basketball right now and they played great against us that night."

Kansas State (8-11, 2-6) is coming off an 84-78 loss at Iowa State on Saturday.

A 30-point game by Larry Reid wasn't enough to pull the upset over the 12th-ranked Cyclones.

Beating Missouri hasn't turned out to be a momentum builder for the Wildcats, who have lost four in a row and six of seven. Four of the losses were to ranked teams, however.

"I think our team has showed some real toughness and they've been resilient," coach Jim Wooldridge said. "Even though we don't have the wins to back up our effort, I think our effort has been pretty good."

Reid was 10-for-16 and made four of his six 3-pointers in the final four minutes against Iowa State.

"Larry has been a very valuable player really from start to finish in so many areas," Wooldridge said. "He has had some games where he really scored and gave our offense a real lift, and even when he's not scoring he's been a most valuable player because of his ability to get us in play and do that efficiently and safely."

Missouri had relied on the one-two outside punch of Kareem Rush and Clarence Gilbert, who are averaging a combined 39 points — or more than half of the Tigers' points. The Oklahoma State game was no exception with Rush getting 21 and Gilbert 15.

The dynamic will change now that Rush is out for the season with torn ligaments in his left thumb suffered Monday night.

"I would just have to believe the games they played their best basketball, these other guys are a big part," Wooldridge said. "There's plenty of other people on that team to be concerned about."

Avs face Capitals

DENVER (AP) — Sitting idle doesn't sit well with Adam Deadmarsh.

Deadmarsh has watched his Colorado Avalanche teammates succeed without him because of a concussion and, most recently, a knee injury.

His injury-induced hiatus is expected to end tonight when Colorado plays the Washington Capitals.

"I'm definitely excited to get back. ... I don't care where I play. I just want to get back in," Deadmarsh said.

Nuggets' loss helps Detroit

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Pistons rookie Mateen Cleaves knows the importance of winning home games.

On Tuesday night, Cleaves and the Pistons ended six weeks of home frustration with a 94-83 victory over the Denver Nuggets.

"You have to guard your home court like you guard your house," Cleaves said after Detroit's first home win of 2001. "You wouldn't want someone to come into your living room and steal your TV while you were watching it."

Cleaves scored 13 points and impressed Pistons coach George Irvine with his defense.

"Mateen helped us with the offense tonight, but he's on the floor because he plays defense," Irvine said. "Our reserves really did a nice job in the second quarter, and he sparked it."

Detroit snapped an eight-game home losing streak. The Pistons had not won at home since beating Boston 101-96 on Dec. 26.
