club news

Federated Music Club

The Goodland Federated Music Club heard a trumpet solo played by a club member at their April monthly meeting.

The club met April 2 at the Sonrise Christian Church with 13 members and one guest, Laura Miles, present.

After singing the club and state theme songs, the group sang the Hymn-of-the-Month, "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," a Gregorian chant arranged by Thomas Helmore from old Latin kyries of the 12th century.

President Jane Philbrick read a letter from Marilyn Cooper, a member of the Sherman County Historical Society. The historical society has purchased the Handy house and is asking organizations for volunteer help on a variety of projects to get the house ready for the public.

Linda Koons told the club that this year's recipient of the Margaret Martin Piano Award will be announced at the Junior and Senior Music Recital on Sunday, May 6, at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church. The recital will be part of the club's observance of National Music Week which will be May 6-13.

Isabelle Hellerud played a trumpet solo to "Were You There?," an adaptation of the Negro spiritual, which was blended with strains of "Deep River" in the middle. Nancy Shores accompanied her.

"C is for Composers" was the April program theme which ends the musical scale for the year. The featured composers' names began with the letter C.

First, Martha Gunderson read a poem called "Rainbow Trail," a Navajo song.

Then Shores played "Prelude" Op. 28, No. 15, a piano solo by Frederic Chopin.

A duet, "Two Rigaudons" by E.P. Chedeville was played by GERALYN PARKER (soprano recorder) and Mary Jo Miles (alto recorder).

The Goodland Recorder Ensemble played the five movements of "Dance Suite" by Archangelo Corelli.

The club chorus closed the program by singing "Give My Regards to Broadway" by George M. Cohan.

Gunderson installed the club officers for next year. They are Jane Philbrick, president; Birkley Barnes, vice president; and Suzanne Garrison, secretary/treasurer.

Afterwards, hostesses Gunderson and Barnes served refreshments.
