Brewster folks will continue to stay busy

The week before last was a busy week for some of the Brewster folks and it seems like that is the way it's going to remain for awhile. Since the Easter holiday is always a good day to visit or have a visitor, there have been several comings and goings.

Twila and Larry Emory of Cheyenne, Wyo., and their granddaughters Tanya, Ashley and Kelsey visited Marge Westover the week before Easter. While here, they visited the Sharon Springs Cemetery. They also visited Shorty and Maytha Starns in Ellinwood and then they returned home on Friday.

Guests of Phil and Sharron Knox and Timothy were Matt and Stephanie Ford and Melanie, of St. Louis, and Daniel and Vickie Knox of Irving, Texas. On Saturday, the group celebrated Melanie's first birthday, a little early. They were joined on this occasion by Melanie's paternal grandparents, Everett and Glorianna Ford, of Concordia and great-grandmother, Aletha Rule, of Norton.

Our daughter, Beth Ziegler and her husband, David, and their children, Nathaniel and Corinne, of Hays, joined us for Easter and following church, we had dinner on our patio. We were joined by LaVelle Michael of Brewster, and Delbert and Mae Smith and Curtis Crouse, all of Oakley.

Our son, Brian Michael and his wife, Michele, and their children, Samuel and Hannah, of Bennington, were in Brewster, on Saturday. They left for home in the evening, but stopped in Hays to spend the night with Beth and David, as the weather was very threatening. When they stopped in Salina, before going to Bennington, our son, Barry, showed them a sample of the hail that fell there the night before. Michele reported that it was the size of a baseball.

Our condolences go out to the Keller family on the death of David Keller in a car accident south of Colby.

There are many from the area suffering colds and sinus or allergy conditions. This time of year is difficult for some because of all the new things to tickle our nostrils.

Lots of school activities coming up, so be sure to keep track of the ones you want to attend. Graduations are not far off!

George and Roberta Luckert traveled to Castle Rock, Colo., to spend Easter with their daughter, Marilyn Peters, and her husband, Pete. They also enjoyed the company of their granddaughter and her family, and especially their great-grandchildren. They returned home on April 16, in time to attend the "55 and Alive" Classes at the Brewster Senior Center on Tuesday and Wednesday. Ruth and Duane Jones were also in Colorado for Easter, but they were in Greeley, with their daughter, Linda Hoffner and her husband, Larry. They also enjoyed time with their grandchildren and most especially, their great-grandchildren. While they were in Greeley, Ruth also had an appointment with her doctor for a consultation. They returned home on April 17.

Several folks from the senior center enjoyed the meals and meetings that were held this past week, although some of them said it was a lot of good food pretty close together. On April 11, the Brewster Lion's Club held their annual "Widows Night," and all who attended said the meal and program were very nice, and wanted to thank the Lions for this special time. On April 18, the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program had their annual awards presentation and banquet and many from Brewster went to it. Jack Faber, drove the senior van, and took several over for it. They all enjoyed the meal, plus watching some of the dancing that took place following the meal and award presentation. They returned home just before it turned dark, so they didn't stay out too late.

The next evening, on April 19, again Jack and Mary Faber picked up several folks so they could attend the Annual S&T

Meeting and Dinner. After a delicious meal, they were very interested in hearing Ron Vignery share about the events that his son, Jeff, and 23 other American service people endured, with the Chinese affair, that had all of us glued to the news reports for nearly two weeks. This was very informative, as was the business meeting, which lets the subscribers know what the telephone company is accomplishing. This is a very productive and growing cooperative and we are happy to have it based in Brewster. There are many programs in the offing that will help Brewster become a hub of activity, in the communications field. After the business meeting, the drawing also produced some winners from our area and we congratulate these folks on their good fortune.

Following all the activity, the people who rode on the senior van wanted me to extend a special thanks to Jack and Mary Faber for the special care and help they gave all who rode on it. Their courtesy and help was very much appreciated.

As I mentioned earlier, the "55 and Alive" class was very helpful and we appreciate Kathi Hapke for coming over and working with us on it. Perhaps there was nothing new to be learned, but it was certainly important to go over the laws and such that we have not dealt with on a daily basis. Thank you, Kathi!

That's it for now, except we hope you all stay well and healthy and remember the folks in Hoisington this week. They have a rough time ahead of them.

Have you left photos at The Goodland Daily News? You may pick them up from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.
