But even with an agreement, the negotiators faced the tough job of selling the package to their colleagues. Not only would the Legislature have to pass the buaget bill, it would have to approve as many as six others to enact necessary tax and policy changes.

Prom to be held Saturday night

Dressed in gowns and tuxedoes, Goodland High School juniors and seniors will show off their finery with a promenade at about 7:15 p.m. at the Max Jones Fieldhouse, right before the school's prom dance Saturday

The theme for this year's prom is "Under the Stars, 2001." The evening will begin with pictures at 5 p.m., followed by a supper at 6 p.m. at the Goodland Elks Lodge.

The dance will begin back at the Elks after the promenade and last until midnight. Jason Hooper, a disc jockey, will provide music for the dance.

By tradition, the juniors put on this annual event for the seniors, said Richard Liess, high school athletic direc-

The juniors raise money to pay for the event by selling magazines in the fall, he said. Then they are responsible for organizing and hosting the prom for the seniors. The seniors get to choose sophomores to serve at the dinner.

Junior parents will provide valet parking and supervision for the sophomore servers, Liess said. They will also help with the promenade.
