Goodland Federated Music Club

To celebrate National Music Week, the Goodland Federated Music Club sponsored a public recital featuring Goodland High School juniors and seniors the evening of May 6 at the Goodland United Methodist Church.

Two outstanding piano students were also honored with an award.

The theme for National Music Week (May 6-13) was "Music—A Lifeline for the Century." The National Federation of Music Clubs promotes the annual observance to focus attention on the value and enjoyment of music.

Nine students performed vocal and instrumental selections they had prepared for the state music contest:

Mandi Bellamy played a trumpet solo, "My Regards," by Edward Llewellyn, accompanied by Nancy Shores.

Bart McCoy sang "Gia il sole dal Gange" by Scarlatti, also accompanied by Shores.

Laura Miles sang "Per la Gloria" by Bononcini, accompanied by Debbie Griffith.

Darin Richardson sang "Green-Eyed Dragon," arranged by Wellsley Charles, and his accompanist was Emily Langness.

Andra Townsend sang "Into the Night" by Clara Edwards, accompanied by Janda Linin.

Four piano soloists concluded the program. Emily Langness played "Knecht Ruprecht" by Robert Schumann. Brad Larson played "Rondo alla Turca" by Johann F. Burgmuller. Erinn Hardy played "Wedding Day at Troldhaugen" by Edward Grieg. Jill Sowers played "Nocturne" Opus 55, No. 1 by Chopin.

Following the recital, Charlene Avila, granddaughter of Margaret Martin, announced that Hardy and Sowers were winners of the Margaret Martin Piano award for 2001. Erinn is the daughter of Dave and Pam Hardy, and Jill's parents are Rue and Marilyn Sowers. Each girl received a plaque and their names are to be engraved on a large plaque at Goodland High School.

The award was established by the family of Martin, a former piano teacher in Goodland, to give recognition to pianists. To be eligible, a student must be a Goodland High senior who has made a major contribution to the music program as a pianist.

President Jane Philbrick told the club that member Jan Malpert received the 2001 Who's Who of Church Musicians in Youth music award from the Kansas Federation of Music Clubs. The award was announced at the state convention April 20 and 21 in Coffeyville.

Afterwards, the club served refreshments. Suzanne Garrison, Geryl Parker and Philbrick were hostesses.
