Eighth graders receive citizenship awards

Richard Bauman

Erinn Abernathy

Richard Bauman and Erinn Abernathy, graduating eighth graders at Grant Junior High, received the Kansas State High School Activities Association Citizenship Award at the school's awards assembly.

The award is given each year to an eighth grade boy and girl who show respect for their country, community, public and private property and the beliefs and convictions of others; demonstrate citizenship responsibilities, school pride, good sportsmanship and friendliness to new students; and show reverence and concern for all life.

These two were picked out of all the eighth grade students to receive the award by staff members at the junior high. The assembly was May 25.

Bauman, 15, son of Jerry and Reva Bauman of Goodland, said he was surprised and happy to win.

"It was pretty cool," he said. "I never really got an award like that until this year. It was a lot of work to get it."

Abernathy, 15, daughter of Paul and Gina Abernathy of Goodland, said it was an honor for her to be nominated and that she didn't think she would get it.

"That's just flattering to be picked

Undercover cop saw no drug use at high school

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — An undercover police officer who posed as a student for four weeks at Garden City High School found many students who admitted smoking marijuana but saw no drug activity on school grounds, police said.

Principal Kevin Burr asked the police department in April to provide an undercover officer to investigate persistent rumors about drug use in and around the school.

Garden City Police Capt. Michael Utz said the officer talked to many students who readily admitted using marijuana, but observed no drug use around the school.

"The school board for a number of years has been pushing safety issues," said Superintendent Milt Pippenger. "This provides us an outside look at how we're doing."

Pippenger said he was mostly pleased with the results of the investigation.
