'Misunderstanding' reported; bombers will go

only thought the Pentagon would delay its decision until next year.

The Pentagon intends to move in fiscal 2002, which begins Oct. 1, Towns said.

Towns questioned Penatgon assurances that the Kansas Air National Guard would get another airplane.

"That's a feeble assurance," Towns said. "They have not talked any specifics."

The contradiction came Tuesday morning after Roberts and Sen. Max Cleland, D-Ga., met with the Air Force chief on Capitol Hill.

The Defense Department announced earlier this month its plans to mothball a third of its fleet of the 93 supersonic planes by Oct. 1.

Defense Secretary Donald H. Rums-feld wants to retire 33 of the planes, 18 of them flown by Air National Guard units in Georgia and Kansas. The proposal would consolidate the fleet at bases in South Dakota and Texas.

The lawmakers still want to try to keep the bombers permanently at McConnell.

With Roberts in Kansas on Monday, Sen. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, introduced a Roberts amendment to the Defense Supplemental Appropriations Bill. Idaho is one of the states which also stand to lose in the planned bomber reshuffling.

The amendment prevents the Department of Defense from using money in the fiscal 2001 budget to implement the B-1 reduction.

"We want this plane to stay here," Brownback said. "We are going to fight to keep it."

Jack Tyson said. "Now I have a child with a viable extremity that's warm, that's got a pulse." He was transferred from Baptist to Sacred Heart for treatment of his kidney failure.

A ranger shot the shark and pried its jaw open with a police baton while a volunteer firefighter pulled the arm out of the shark's gullet. Florenzler and Jessie's aunt, Diana Florenzler, tended to the boy.

July 10, 1901 — Riley Sawyer and wife, 'Doc' Sawyer and Emma Whitman, from near Jaqua, were arrested by a deputy United States marshal, charged with false swearing in a land contest case and arraigned before the commissioner of the United States court in Wray, Colorado. The evidence against them was sufficient that they were all bound over to appear for trial. The Sawyer brothers are the men who slugged Eric Owen of Goodland, last August, breaking his jaw and badly beating him, because he had contested their claim, in the same case in which they are now arrested for perjury. From The Goodland Republic/Information provided by The Sherman County Historical Society

Boy who lost arm to shark is 'better' today

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A doctor monitoring an 8-year-old shark attack victim for possible brain damage said today that the boy is showing some encouraging signs.

Surgeons reattached the right arm of Jessie Arbogast after he was attacked by the shark Friday. He also suffered a severe leg wound and was nearly drained of blood before he arrived at the hospital.

"I am happy to report that Jessie's resting comfortably this morning," Dr. Juliet De Campos said on ABC's "Good Morning America."

He was in critical but stable condition at Sacred Heart Children's Hospital. Doctors said the blood loss harmed virtually every organ in his body, causing kidney failure and raising the possibility of brain damage.

De Campos said it was still too early to say whether there was brain damage,

"Friday night I had a dead child," Dr.

Jack Tyson said. "Now I have a child with a viable extremity that's warm, that's got a pulse." He was transferred from Baptist to Sacred Heart for treatment of his kidney failure.

hope we taught them a lesson," Roberts had said.

After the news conference at the base, Roberts said he got a copy two days ago of the so-called Program Budget Decision for proposed military cutbacks.

In addition to the well-publicized bomber cuts, other proposed military cutbacks in that document included reducing the U.S. presence in Bosnia, restructuring the civilian workforce and partnering with communities for firefighter services at bases, among other proposals.

Such far-reaching proposals should be done at defense reviews, not as part of an annual budget proposal, he said.

"They say it is a work in progress," Roberts said. "I think it is a mistake in progress."

Weather was no cooler in Colorado mountains

Believe me the weather in the mountains isn't any cooler than on the flat. I went to Colorado for a few days for a couple of reasons. I went back to check on the family members who are having some medical problems. All seem to be coming along but it has been a rough seven months for three of them. I made the canyon my base of operations.

It was 101 degrees when I got there and had to turn the air conditioner on till later in the evening. At the same time, it was 48 when I woke up around 5:00 in the morning and by 9 a.m. it was 88 degrees and made it up to 98 degrees on Sunday afternoon.

I'll say this it always cools off after midnight and the morning dawns were in the high 40s and low 50s. It got up to 92 on Monday, down to 53 by morning.

I left for home on Tuesday as my dog got sick from the altitude, again. I didn't get my usual mountain headache until Tuesday morning so I traveled back home with a headache, a sick dog, and a toe that my neighbor, an EMT, said was broken.

How I did it, no clue, except when I took my shoe off Saturday night it was swollen and black and blue. Must have done something while driving.

The traffic wasn't all that bad until late Saturday afternoon when the canyon traffic became bumper to bumper.

My neighbor Aaron and I put up the fence that had become trampled down. We did it late Sunday evening when the temperature started dropping. He and his wife Annie had spent a few days up along the Laramie River, getting home Sunday evening. He immediately came over to check on me.

All was well and the days went past at a fast pace. I got home on Tuesday evening. I spent the 4th getting rid of my headache. My dog got better, and I put stuff away and got my washing done. My next job was finishing this column. I've really no news for this column. Maybe I'll have more for you folks next week. While it was nice to go back, it was also nicer to get back to my home here.

Certainly was surprised to see three inches of rain in my new rain gauge. The McClungs filled me in on the storms that went through over the weekend. I had left my sprinklers on, so the lawn got a double dose of water. As warm as it was on the 4th, I'm sure it will be dry enough to need a drink on Friday or Saturday.

I'm watching a special on channel 36, "Pops Goes the Pops." So far I don't think it's as good as last year. I didn't go with Bud and Pat Perrey to the fair grounds for the free barbecue or the fireworks. I felt it was better to stay where it was cooler and I wouldn't have to fight the mosquitoes.

On this note, sign-off is needed. Take care till next week.
