

Cowboys fall hard to Indians

By Sharon Corcoran
The Goodland Daily News

It was a game of Cowboys and Indians, and the Goodland Cowboys made some good defensive plays, but failed to stop the Hays Indians, losing 51-14 in Friday's opening football game.

The Cowboys got off to a rough start, with Hays returning the kick-off for a touchdown and intercepting a pass in the first quarter and returning it for touchdown No. 2

After Hays made their third touchdown of the game in the second quarter, Goodland worked its way into Hays' territory and scored a touchdown on five plays.

Sean Greenlee carried the ball into the endzone, making the score 20-6. The Cowboys went for two extra points but missed.

Hays returned the kick to Goodland's 11 yard line, but defensive plays by Donald Raymer and Andrew Melia on the first down, Kris Rubio on the second and Greenlee on the third held the Indians to a field goal, making the score 23-6.

The Indians got one more touchdown in the half with 2:18 to go, making the score at the half 30-6.

Goodland started the second half with the ball, but Hays promptly intercepted on second down and ran for a touchdown, making it 37-6 Indians.

With 7:33 to go in the third quarter, a controversy arose as the Indians' quarterback dropped the ball. The officials called it an incomplete pass, but the crowd in the Cowboy bleachers wanted to see an instant replay. No, replay was not available, so the call had to stand, and the Indians passed for another touchdown about a minute later. The Cowboys were down 44-6.

Hays scored their final touchdown with 3:43 to go in the third, and with the score now 51-6, the Goodland crowd rose to their feet clapping and pounding their feet to spur on the Cowboys in the fourth quarter.

The Cowboys had more woes to come, however, with a string of incomplete passes and a couple of yellow hankies on the field. But the boys were not done yet.

With 2:46 to go, the Cowboys recovered an Indian fumble and had the ball at the Hays 23.

passed the ball to Raymer for a touchdown with 2:27 to go. Malcom White scored the two extra points making the score 51-14.

Coach Chris Walters said he was pleased with the way the Goodland defense played. The special teams blew a couple of plays, he said, but the team got a couple of touchdowns and will improve.

"We still have a shot at having a great year," he said.

The leading rusher for Goodland was Sean Greenlee with nine runs for a gain of 80 yards and one touchdown. Jared Duke completed 13 of 30 pass attempts for 185 yards and a touchdown. Donald Raymer was the leading receiver with seven completions for 107 yards and one touchdown.

Hunter gets first in fishing contest

By Sharon Corcoran
The Goodland Daily News

A Goodland man snared first place in the bow-and-arrow division among 21 teams competing for over $1,000 in cash and merchandise in the Great Kansas Whale Hunt carp derby at Lake Wilson, northeast of Russell.

The derby held on Aug. 25-26 was the first at Lake Wilson, but organizers said the event will be held again next year. Several northwest Kansas teams took prizes.

Winning the derby in the bow and arrow division were Bob McKnight of Goodland and John Baker of Norton with 133 1/2 pounds of fish.

Danny Carmen of Gem and Don Seyfert of Colby teamed up for second place with 86 pounds. Third went to Chuck Engel and Willie McKnight of Goodland with 59 pounds.

"My son-in-law (John Baker) and I did a lot of walking along the bank looking for fish," Bob McKnight said.

The fish came to the bank as it was warm, McKnight said, and they could be shot with a bow and arrow from the bank. The derby was like playing Indian all weekend, he said, and was good practice for deer-hunting season. That was his reason for going, McKnight said, to practice shooting moving targets to get ready for hunting deer.

It's good practice and a lot of fun, he said, not something they were planning to win.

The fishermen were allowed two rods and two reels each and were in boats, McKnight said, while those using bows and arrows had only one bow and one arrow each. Most of those fishing used whole-kernel corn as bait, he said, and did some chumming, throwing field corn in the lake in places where they planned to fish the night before. This gathers the fish to one place, he said.

But the fishermen didn't have all the advantages, as the hunters were able to get in more shots than the fishermen got bites, he said, with the carp being gathered along the bank.

The largest fish they caught was five pounds, McKnight said, and the average was two and a half to three pounds.

First place in the family division went to the Bruce Bowie family of Ellsworth with 93 pounds of carp.

The Curtis Counts family took second with 42 pounds and the Vance Ruggels family took third with 35 pounds. Both families are from Russell.

In the rod-and-reel division, a pair of anglers from Ellis, Travis Kohlrus and Roy Aschenbrenner, took first place having caught 285 fish for a total of 735 pounds. Second place went to Gary Williams and Reggie Beckman of Norton with 334 pounds and third went to Don and Margaret Waters of St. John with 246 pounds. Robert Walters and Bubba Eichman of Russell finished fourth with 151 pounds.

Totals for the two-day event were a whopping 778 fish caught for a total of 2,024 1/2 pounds.

Tommie Berger, fisheries biologist with the state Department of Wildlife and Parks, assisted with the weigh-in. The event was sponsored by Russell's Inn, Lake Wilson Marina, Lake Wilson Area Association, A&A Coors, Russell County Convention and Visitors' Bureau and KRSL/KCAY Russell Radio.

Golf starts strong, placing first at meet

The Goodland High School girls golf team got off to a strong start Wednesday as the girls took first place in Division 1 at the Trego Invitational in WaKeeney.

The meet was held on Big Creek Golf Course, a par 35.

The weather was hot with light winds, Coach Connie Livengood said. She said it was an exceptional first match and the team played wonderfully.

Jessica Osborn and Stevie Lee Raymer each had a par 48, qualifying them for fourth place among the top 10 medalists.

They tied with a student from Sublette and another one from Hoisington. Due to the tie, the decision for who got fourth place had to be made based on the par for hole one, Coach Livengood said. That spot went to Raymer.

Other Goodland scores were, Kendra Billinger 54, Kayla Rasure 57, Hayley Jarmin 58, Andrea Fenner 65, Bailee Guyer 65 and Amy Cebula 70.

In Division 1, the Garden City junior varsity took second, Hays junior varsity third, Colby fourth, Ulysses junior varsity fifth, Scott City sixth, Dodge City junior varsity seventh, and Thomas More-Marian of Hays eighth.

"The girls are pleased and should be. They played well," Livengood said. "The two-a-day (practices) paid off."

The team's next match is at 8 a.m. Mountain Time Monday at Thomas More-Marian in Hays.

Chiefs gain coach and quarterback from Rams

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—If not for St. Louis, the Kansas City Chiefs would hardly have a coach or quarterback at all.

Dick Vermeil, who led the 1999 Rams to the Super Bowl championship and then last January took charge of the Chiefs, added yet another former Ram to his new team Monday by trading for backup quarterback Joe Germaine.

The Chiefs gave St. Louis a sixth-round draft choice for Germaine, a fourth-round pick out of Ohio State in 1999. He will replace the ineffective Bubby Brister as a backup for Trent Green, who cost the Chiefs a first-round pick last April when they acquired him from the Rams.

In an ironic twist, the aging Brister and the immobile Germaine lost their jobs last week in the same game. In the preseason finale in St. Louis, Brister's mistakes led to two Rams touchdowns in a 21-17 St. Louis victory, while Germaine was going 0-for-4, getting sacked for a 13-yard loss and getting benched.

In the preseason, Germaine completed only 12 of his last 40 passes and was sacked 10 times.

"I think he'll be fine, but we can't wait," Rams coach Mike Martz said afterward. "Marc (Bulger) is now our No. 2."

The Rams signed quarterback Jamie Martin, who had been cut by the Jacksonville Jaguars. Martin previously was with the Rams from 1993-96, when Martz was an offensive assistant with the team, and also spent the last month of the 1997 season with Martz in Washington.

St. Louis will open the season with the untested Bulger as the backup to Kurt Warner, and Martin likely will take over the backup job before long.

Brister, the NFL's oldest quarterback at 39, was released.

"Obviously, Dick and I knew a great deal about Joe, and for the value we had to give up, I was comfortable making the trade," said Chiefs president and general manager Carl Peterson.

"We liked Joe coming out of Ohio State. His college stats and workout (at the scouting combine) in Indianapolis were impressive. In the limited exposure he has had with the Rams, Joe has performed well."

The other backup quarterback will be Todd Collins, who had his ups and downs during the exhibition season but has never thrown a pass in the regular season in three years in Kansas City.
