

Car wash raises funds for college, disaster

Dana Knapp washed cars Wednesday afternoon to raise money for the Northwest Kansas Technical College Engineering Department. The money will help pay for the department's expenses in hosting potential employers, and a portion will also go to the Red Cross disaster relief fund to help the families of victims of the tragedies in New York and Washington.

Hospice holding dinner, auction

Hospice Services Inc. volunteers in Sherman County are organizing the annual "Hospice Harvest" dinner and auction at the Goodland Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on Saturday, Oct. 13.

The event will begin with a social hour at 5:30 p.m., dinner at 6:30 p.m. and a live auction to follow.

Hospice has held the event in June in past years, but due to schedule conflicts, is has been moved to October.

"We don't want to be seen as competitors (with other events)," said Sharon Jensen of Hospice Services' Sherman County Advisory Board. "That's not what Hospice Services is about. We want as much participation from Sherman County residents as possible, so we moved our event to the fall."

Those on the planning committee include Robert Daise, Rita Erickson, Lance and Melissa Fulton, Patty Gensil, Sharon Jensen, Linda Knott and Ruth Soward. They sent letters to area residents and businesses seeking donations for the auction.

In the weeks leading up to the event volunteers will follow up the letters. Plans are to display some of the donations in the Schneiders' store front window.

"This provides area residents a preview of the items they may purchase at the auction," said Knott.

Hospice Services is a regional non-profit organization dedicated to the loving care of terminally ill patients and their families. Hospice Services offers options for both patients and families during the final phase of an illness, including comfort from pain and symptoms, and the ability to die at home surrounded by family and friends.

If you would like to donate an item for the auction or a cash gift, call Lance or Melissa Fulton at 899-3549 or the Hospice Services office at 899-5788.

Farm Bureau promoting farm safety week

The Sherman County Farm Bureau is promoting this as 2001 National Farm Safety and Health Week with the theme "Kids No. 1 in 2001!"

About 100 children and youths die in farm work accidents each year in the United States, said Jeannie Shields, safety chairman for the Sherman County Farm Bureau. Activities this week will focus on keeping kids safe from the dangers encountered in farm work, including riding on farm tractors, grain transportation in wagons, and grain storage bins.

Many young farm and ranch children are also at risk when assigned chores with farm animals while others drown in farm ponds and in manure storage facilities, she said.

Kansas Farm Bureau has been promoting accident prevention and providing farm safety education since 1948. County Farm Bureaus across the state sponsor Farm Safety Days to provide kids the opportunity to learn firsthand how to avoid the dangers associated with farm life.

National Farm Safety and Health Week is sponsored by the National Safety Council.
