today in history

Oct. 11, 1901: A RUNAWAY BOY — Bert Kline, 13 years old, Wanted to Leave Because He Disliked Going To School — Got as Far as Edson. — Bert Kline thought that he would like to go out and see the world so decided that he would run away from home. He began his preparations by going to H.H. Auer, who he told that his mother wanted to borrow $10. Mr. Auer gave the boy $7 and told him that his mother could just as well have $10, but he did not have change. The boy then went to different stores about town and bought a coat, cap, and gloves, charging them to his father. A search was made and outgoing trains were watched and instructions left at the depot not to sell him a ticket. However, he was found at Edson having walked ten miles, and was brought back to Goodland. He still had most of the $7 and seemed pleased to return home. Bert is an adopted son of Engineer Frank Kline, and is well treated at home. He was prompted to run away because he did not like going to school and the desire of most all boys when reaching a certain age to go out and see the world.

Mountain's beauty overshadows tragic events

Made my last, trip to the Colorado canyon over the weekend to close the place For the winter. The weather was gorgeous, cool in the evening, cold at dawn and warm in the afternoon. The trees were a mixture of yellow, gold and green. A gorgeous sight to behold, especially in these troubled times.

As I sat Saturday evening at dusk and saw the beauty of the mountains, I wondered how one man could be so messed up in his thinking. There is no man on earth than could ever create the wonders of the mountains. I watched a couple of beautiful deer come lazily down the hill on the road in front of my place, turn into my yard and go out and cross the road on their way down to the river. Shortly they reappeared and were headed up the hill when they suddenly stopped, ears twitching and with a few leaping bounds disappeared in the ravine south of friend Dolly's house. I didn't hear anything but something spooked doesn't mind the cold but hate the moisture.

Remember the second go round of flu shots will be Tuesday the 16th at the senior center. If you didn't make it to the 9th give the 16th a whirl. The place was getting full when I left the center around 1 o'clock,

Eva Briney has returned to the Wheat Ridge Center after a stay in the hospital. Christie Schiefen is still there. for how long I'm not sure.

The communitv has certainly had their share of deaths the past couple of weeks, Just last week alone the families of Gerald Emig, Bruce Hefner, Dorothy Jones, Alice Tipton, Allen Clauson and Lynette DaPron had to say their final goodbyes to their loved ones. While I didn't personally know all of the people, these have effected the whole community in one way or the other. May these people feel the hand of God upon their shoulder these next few months as they make the adjustment of living without these loved ones. Sincere sympathy to you all.

My birthday calendar is shy of any birthdays or anniversaries. I'm sure there are some out, there, so to them best wishes and many more,

Not sure how much longer there will be tomatoes but the plants are still full of half ripe and all green tomatoes. I did cover them before I left for the weekend. I've taken the cover off during the day and replaced them at night, There will be a time when that will no longer work. Till. then, one can hope for the best.

Don't see anything laying on the desk so will close for now, God willing I'll see you all next week. In the meantime, pray that the mess in the world will begin to start to slow up and we all can breathe a bit. easier. I don't think we'll ever be back to where we were on September 11.
