Fair activities have kept many busy This isn't going to be a very long column. With all the pre-fair and fair activities, most readers were too busy with nothing but fair projects. Ana and Jonathan McClung did very well with their various projects. They had food, clothing, crafts and livestock (I hope I didn't miss anything). Some of their projects will be entered at the state fair in September. During fair week, I saw very little of them as they were gone from early morning until way late at night. It's hard to believe that the 19th will see school activities starting, such as the fall activities. The first day of school is Aug. 26. It doesn't seem possible that summer is
