- DESCRIPTION

local area sunflower processors and industry supporters, have been assembled to present the SUNFLOWER CELEBRATION as a promotional and educational program for High Plains producers and businesses. The SUNFLOWER CELEBRATION will take place Friday, August 16, 2002 beginning at 7:00 a.m. Mountain Daylight Time.

The show site is located at the Goodland Industrial Park, 1/4 mile north of the Highway 24 and Highway 27 intersection, then west at 16th street. The SUNFLOWER CELEBRATION will feature sunflower variety performance plot tours, sunflower research plot tours, sunflower production and harvesting equipment displays, as well as sunflower industry personnel available throughout the day to answer questions regarding sunflower production or marketing.

Participants will be transported from the Goodland Industrial Park to the High Plains Research and Technology Center, located adjacent to the Northern Sun/ADM sunflower oil processing facility. The High Plains Research and Technology Center yield trials will feature NuSun, traditional oil, and confection sunflower varieties. Research trials include herbicide, fertility, tillage practices and water usage, insecticide, plant population, row spacing, and sunflower insect research plots. Rotational studies involving sunflower, wheat, and fallow have been initiated within the research plots to represent High Plains production practices.

The SUNFLOWER CELEBRATION Field Day/Ag Show is being presented to interested participants at no cost, so be sure to thank the Sponsors and industry supporters, for their generous contributions toward making this day a premier event celebrating High Plains sunflower production.
